STATE'S TIME THEORY IN FRANK CASE IS ASSAILED

"BOTTLE NECK" WILL BE WIDENED BEFORE SHRINE CONVENTION

Forrest Adair and Other Shriners Arrange Details With Mayor Woodward and Capt. Clayton Friday A. M.

COUNCIL WILL BE ASKED TO APPROVE ARRANGEMENT

Appropriation of $15,000 Must Be Made Available and Construction Dept. Must Have Authority to Begin

As the result of a conference Friday morning between Forrest Adair, Hugh Richardson, Ed Alfriend and Mayor Woodward, the Peachtree street "bottle neck" is to be widened before the Shrine convention, which will be here in May.

Messrs. Adair, Richardson and Alfriend went to the mayor's office to take the matter up with him, Captain R. M. Clayton, of the construction department, was called in, and the details were satisfactorily worked out.

A resolution will be introduced in council next Monday making the $15,000 appropriation in the finance sheet available for immediate use, and authorizing the construction department to begin work.

Captain Clayton stated in the conference that it will be possible to finish most of the widening before the Shrine convention, provided his department starts at once.

The completion of all details of the widening will not be undertaken. The curb will simply be set back to the new line, and the additional street width will be put in shape for use. The main thing needed for the Shrine convention is street width, on account of the parades and the extra heavy automobile travel. The buildings will be set back and the sidewalks finished after the Shrine convention is over.

Mr. Adair during the conference cited some interesting facts to show the overwhelming magnitude of the Shrine convention as it will be staged in Atlanta.

For instance: There will be sixty-one bands in the big parade. This is more bands than were ever brought together at a presidential inauguration and more than the coronation of a ning of Eekland ever saw. The parade of the bands and the Shrine patrols will be four miles long. The night parade, in which individual Shriners, wearing dress suits and fezs on their heads, will march with the bands and patrols, will be probably eight miles long.

Mr. Adair stated that he had just obtained the permission of Asa G. Candler to build a grandstand on the Leyden lot opposite the Majestic hotel. This grandstand will seat 1500 people, and will be for the members of the imperial council to review the grand parade.

M'ADOO'S ENGAGEMENT IS TO BE ANNOUNCED

Formal Notice to Be Issued Today—Denies Rumor of Resignation

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Formal announcement of the engagement of Secretary McAdoo and Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson youngest daughter of the president and Mrs. Wilson was expected to be made today at the White House. Persons in a position to know said confirmation of reports of the engagement had been decided upon by the White House family although it had not been intended to make the announcement at so early a date.

Official Washington had taken the report as true today because of its wide publication without any denial or comment from the White House.

Rumors that after the marriage which is expected to take place in June, the secretary would resign and be appointed ambassador to France, White House officials said, were without foundation.

Secretary McAdoo has been an intimate friend of the Wilson family for many years. He is a widower and has six children, three sons and three daughters. One son and one daughter are married.

TWO COLUMBUS MEN FOUND DEAD IN BEDS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 13.—Two well known citizens of Columbus were found dead in their beds yesterday, both, according to a verdict of the county coroner, coming to their death from natural causes, presumably from heart trouble. One of the citizens was J. F. Brooks, well known employe of the Bush Hardware company, and the other George Hicks, aged thirty, a merchant. Both were in apparent good health the night before, being at work the previous day as usual.

WOMEN ARE WITHIN $4,448.40 OF FUND FOR NEW HOSPITAL

Total Amount Collected for Wesley Memorial Institution Up to Present Is $20,551.60. Renew Efforts for Balance

WORKERS PLAN TO RAISE $4,000 BY NOON SATURDAY

Members of Various Committees Will Hear Reports at Meeting to Be Held in Hotel Winecoff Tomorrow A. M.

With only $4,448.40 needed to finish their work, the women of the campaign for Wesley Memorial hospital went back out into the highways and byways of the city early Friday afternoon. By Saturday at 11 o'clock, when they will meet in the Hotel Winecoff, they hope to have at least $4,000 of the balance in hand. The complete returns of the day's work will be tabulated at the meeting Saturday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, in Wesley Memorial church.

Here is the statement for the day:

Reported Friday.. .. .. $ 3,302.75
Already reported.. .. .. 17,248.85

Total to date.. .. .. $20,551.60

Every member of every committee, and all others who have helped in the campaign either with work or subscriptions, are expected to attend the meeting in Wesley Memorial church Saturday morning. Dr. W. R. Hendrix, pastor of the church, stated at the meeting Friday that the latch string will be hanging on the outside of the door and everybody will be welcome.

Dr. Hendrix addressed the workers Friday. So also did Dr. A. M. Hughlett, pastor of Mr. Mark's. Dr. Hughlett has been working actively in the campaign. He will take up a collection especially for the hospital Sunday morning. He urges other Methodist ministers in the city to do the same, and collect a big aggregate for the institution, to add to the public's subscriptions during the past several days.

LETTER FROM BISHOP.

A letter from Bishop Warren A. Candler, chairman of the executive committee of the board of trustees of the hospital, was received Friday morning by Mrs. Henry H. Tucker, chairman of the ways and means committee of the campaign, and was read to the workers. In it the bishop wrote that at the regular monthly meeting of the executive committee "attention was called to the success of your campaign for the new and larger hospital, and the committee instructed me to express to you and the ladies associated with you in this noble work appreciation of your efficient labors, and to offer warm congratulations upon the progress of the campaign. The committee greatly appreciates also the valuable assistance the daily press of Atlanta is rendering, especially the marked work of The Atlanta Journal."

EMORY STUDENTS HELP.

Mrs. W. A. Candler reported a subscription of $114 from the boys of Emory college. She was called to the long distance telephone at the hotel and informed of it.

In Thursday's report, Mrs. T. S. Wilkins was shown by typographical error as having contributed $55 through St. Mark's committee. The correct figure was $5. Lee Hagan, credited several days ago to the committee at large with a subscription of $100, should have been credited to St. Mark's committee.

Following was the report by committees Friday: First $315, East Point $35, committee at large $22, Epworth $11.50, Park street $239.50, St. John $72.50, Grace $86, St. Paul $1,100, Inman Park $109.25; Wesley $22, Central $385, Druid Hills $249, St. Mark $532.50, Trinity $123.50. Total, $3,302.75.

GIFT OF $1,000.

One subscription of $1,000 was reported by St. Paul's committee through Mrs. B. F. Fraser, the chairman. The contributor did not wish his name announced, and he was known therefore merely as "a Methodist layman." Mrs. Fraser reported also a subscription of $100 from J. W. Starr, making the total for her committee $1,100.

In the report of St. Mark's committee was a subscription of $100 from Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Collier; and another for $100 from W. O. Foote.

Following in detail were the reports of St. Mark's and other committees:

St. Mark's committee, Mrs. Elizabeth Winship Bates, chairman: Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Collier, $100, Arthur Montgomery $50, W. B. Baker, $50, Charles R. Winship $25, J. O. Wynn $25, Mrs. J. O. Wynn $15, Frank Ellis $10, Fulton Market company $10, A. P. Cain $5, R. H. White, Jr., $25, Alf. Truitt $25, O. F. Owen $10, R. H. Harper $1, E. L. Tatum $5, A. L. Suttles & Co. $10, W. L. Traynham $10, Mrs. Claude Buchanan $3, Frances Hancock $2.50, Mrs. E. T. Winston $1, Mrs. Addie F. Hunt $1, Fred Houser $5, W. E. Beckham $10, W. O. Foote $100, Mrs. Vassar Woolley $2, Mrs. James Jackson $5, Primary St. Mark Sunday school $5, Dr. L. J. Blan-

17TH REGULARS PREPARE FOR MEXIC LINE WORK

Recruits at target practice inaugurated since orders for border move have been received. The little fellow at the left is Murray Cheston, son of a fort lieutenant, who says he will "show those Greasers what's what if they start anything."

Target Practice, Recruit Drill and Tent-Packing Going Forward Rapidly

"Raise your sights a little."

The man, plumped on his stomach, squints along the gun barrel and hugs the stock a little closer.

"Lift your elbow out a bit. It'll help."

He settles himself more firmly and grips the trigger. There is a puff of smoke, a "crack—ping!"

The men in khaki standing near clap their thighs and shout, "You're there, bo! Guess that wouldn't bowl over a greaser, eh? Got Huerta right in the kisser? Four out of five! You're there!"

The next recruit grabs the Krag and flops to the firing line. It's gallery practice at Fort McPherson, inaugurated since the notifying of the Seventeenth infantry to be ready to move for Laredo, Tex., on the border, at any moment.

Actual date for leaving for Savannah and thence by transport for Galveston has not been set, but in the meantime all is excitement and flurry at the fort.

Recruits who have not had much range practice are out behind the guard house daily shooting at a target; other raw ones are drilling and wheeling across the parade ground; the old heads are busily at work hauling over their traps; and down in officers' row personal possessions are being hustled into big boxes.

For the Seventeenth soldiers may never come back to Atlanta. From Texas they may be ordered to duty in Hawaii and when they leave here Sunday or Monday they will take everything with them. Should orders be received to move at once, the Seventeenth could be ready to go in four hours, just as soon as the cars are shunted along the siding at the fort.

But if orders are to move Monday, men will be tolled off to get all the stores ready. Three companies have piled tents, tent pins and blankets on the back porch of the quarters and are busy transferring them into boxes.

The Seventeenth soldiers are ready. It has been three years since they were in Texas. At that time they maneuvered about the border, but had no active service.

They expect little more this trip, but—as the enlisted men say—"while there's Huerta there's hope."

SUCCESS IS IN SIGHT FOR WESLEY HOSPITAL: HAVE YOU GIVEN YET?

The Methodists are not the only folks who have an interest in Wesley Memorial hospital.

Look at the long list of generous givers to the women's campaign and you'll see that.

The responsibility for its welfare and progress is theirs. They founded it. It was the first hospital to be started by southern Methodists. Now there is a smaller one in Kansas City, and a third is being organized in Nashville. The Methodists established Wesley Memorial, and they conduct its management.

But Wesley Memorial is too broad for one denomination. It belongs to the whole south. Its doors are open to all alike—as long as room is left within.

There's the trouble! "No room,"—how often has that condition turned applicants away during the past year or two! That is the reason the women of Atlanta are campaigning now for the last remnants of the $25,000 they want from us. When they put it in bank, Asa G. Candler deposits to their credit three times as much. With that the start will be made for a bigger, a more adequate Wesley Memorial hospital—a southern Johns Hopkins.

"The time is coming when every state in the south will have its Methodist hospital," said one of the workers, recently. "Wesley Memorial will be their inspiration."

That is just one of the good incentives for a fine, big, complete institution in place of the present one that is so sadly inadequate.

There are other incentives—sentiment, pride in Atlanta, charity. And the greatest of these is charity.

The end is in sight.

Success is sure.

Have you given yet?

REGISTRATION TO CLOSE ON APRIL 6, NOT APRIL 1

Mistake in Publication of Date Occurred in Giving Out Committee's Resolutions

The registration books for the county primary will not close on April 1, as incorrectly published several times, but on April 6. The mistake occurred in giving out the resolutions adopted by the county executive committee when it met last Saturday.

In order to register for this primary it is necessary to show that all city, county and state taxes for 1913 have been paid. The registration for the city primary last fall does not count for the county primary. Citizens who registered since last October 1 are eligible to vote in the county primary. The executive committee advises, however, that citizens go to the tax collector's office and make certain they are on the list.

The date of the primary is May 5. The date for closing the candidates' entry list is April 11 at 12 o'clock noon. The entry fees fixed by the sub-committee were published a day or so ago. The first candidate to pay his entry fee was Charles I. Brannan, who is running for tax collector against Andy P. Stewart. The fee for candidates for this office is $150. Captain W. M. Mayo, candidate for county sheriff, was the second to pay, his fee being $150 also.

SOUTHERN PROFESSOR REPORTED MISSING

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, March 13.—A police alarm was sent out here today by Prof. John M. Manly, of the English department of the University of Chicago, for R. G. Patrick, who Prof. Manly said was an instructor in a southern school or college.

Prof. Manly told the police that Mr. Patrick, who had been visiting him for several weeks, had been in ill health and that he went for a walk yesterday and did not return. Information as to what southern school Mr. Patrick was connected with was refused at Prof. Manly's residence. Patrick was described to the police as forty-six years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall and with a heavy black moustache.

COMMITTEE WILL PROBE METHODS OF EXCHANGES

Congress Plans Legislation for Purpose of Abolishing Alleged Abuses

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The house rules committee today appointed Congressmen Hardwick, of Georgia; Henry, of Texas; Cantrill, of Kentucky; Lenroot, of Wisconsin, and Kelly, of Pennsylvania, as a sub-committee to draft a joint resolution providing for an investigation of the methods and practices of the cotton and grain exchanges of the country.

The purpose of the inquiry is to obtain data on which congress may base legislation for abolishing the alleged abuses practiced by the exchanges and to reduce to a minimum, and, if possible, abolish, the gambling features. It is regarded as certain that the house will pass the resolution as directed by the sub-committee, and it is believed it will encounter small opposition in the senate.

Auditorium Tax Loses

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 13.—A referendum vote on the levying of a special tax of 5 mills for the purpose of raising $300,000 for the erection of a new city auditorium resulted in the defeat of the measure yesterday.

CARRANZA ARRESTS REBEL MAJOR FOR BENTON EXECUTION

WAS IN VILLA'S OFFICE AT TIME OF KILLING

Commission Said to Have Found Evidence That Gustav Bauch Was Ordered Executed by Rebel Colonel

(By Associated Press.)

EL PASO, Tex., March 13.—Confirmed reports received here from Americans arriving from Chihuahua that the commission appointed by General Carranza, head of the constitutionalists, had caused the arrest of Major Rudolfo Fierro, one of General Villa's subordinate officers, as the slayer of William S. Benton, a British subject, were given credence here today by those interested in the case.

The reports stated that Major Fierro is being held on a blind charge for the killing of two Mexican railroad men in a resort at Chihuahua. At the time of Benton's execution it was reported Fierro was in General Villa's office, said to have been the scene of the killing. Furthermore, the Carranza commission, it is declared, began its investigation with informaton that Benton had been killed by Fierro.

General Carranza's commission is said to have gathered convincing evidence that Colonel Fidel Avila, commander of the rebel garrison at Juarez, ordered the execution of Gustav Bausch, a German-American, who was tried as a spy, but in whose case no verdict was rendered. Denials that Bausch was killed have been made repeatedly by rebel officers at Juarez and at Chihuahua.

Bausch was not executed until two days after General Villa had left Juarez, it is said. It is not known whether Avila had orders for the execution, but the commission is said to have evidence indicating that he directly ordered the execution of the German-American.

Developments connecting Fierro with the Benton case have been looked for since Monday, when the major was removed as general manager of the railroads held by the rebels. Many had looked for Fierro's "disappearance" or apparently accidental death.

Troops at Fort McPherson Awaiting Final Orders to Go

Preparations were practically completed Friday by the Seventeenth infantry, stationed at Fort McPherson here, to depart for the Texas border to engage in patrol work in connection with the Mexican situation.

Major George W. Martin, in command, said Friday morning that he had not yet received orders from the war department at Washington as to when to leave. It is believed at the fort, however, that the regiment will leave Monday. Whether the local troops will be stationed at Laredo or Eagle Pass, is not as yet, known.

Approximately 925 men will be in the regiment that leaves here. The remainder of the 1,009 men in the regiment will be left as a guard at Fort McPherson. The trip will be made by rail, plans to have the regiment go to Savannah, Ga., by rail and then embark on an army transport for the remainder of the journey having been abandoned.

Officers of the regiment believe the regiment will not return here after its service on the border is completed, but that it will be sent to either Hawaii or Panama for service.

League to Help Wilson's Efforts to Sustain Peace

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—The American Peace and Arbitration league, a society of which Woodrow Wilson is honorary president, will hold a public meeting here on Sunday evening. The purpose will be primarily to sustain President Wilson in his efforts to bring about and maintain universal peace.

Secretary of War Garrison and Secretary of the Navy Daniels have been invited and will probably attend.

WOMAN SAYS SHE HEARD GIRL SCREAM AT DIFFERENT HOUR

Mrs. J. B. Simmons, of Birmingham, Declares Cries Came From Factory Basement, and After 1 o'Clock

TOLD IT TO SOLICITOR BUT WAS NEVER CALLED

Witness Says Prosecutor Did Not Ask Her to Change Statement as to Time, but Said It Didn't Fit His Theory

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 13.—That she distinctly heard three screams coming from the basement of the National Pencil factory on the afternoon of the day that Mary Phagan was murdered and that this information was given to the solicitor general and discarded by him, is the substance of a statement made to a Journal reporter by Mrs. J. B. Simmons, aged 60 years, a former Atlanta woman.

Mrs. Simmons has put her testimony in the form of an affidavit which is now in the hands of Captain C. W. Burke, a detective in the employ of attorneys for the defense of Leo M. Frank who has been sentenced to death for the murder. The affidavit will be used as a part of the extraordinary motion for a new trial for the condemned man. The fact that Mrs. Simmons had given information to the solictor general, which was not used at the trial of Frank, first became known to the defense in October, 1913, a short time after the trial and on the 14th of that month she made an affidavit for the defense. An inaccuracy resulted in copying the original affidavit on Friday, and she corrected the mistake.

Mrs. Simmons, who is now living at the Carter House with a daughter, Mrs. Mable Birch, Second avenue and Twenty-Fourth street, in her statement to The Atlanta Journal said:

I was living in Atlanta at 28 Haynes street with my son-in-law, A. Williams, who is now in Birmingham, during April of last year, and on Memorial day I came up town with my husband, who is a cripple and had just left the Grady hospital a short time before.

After watching the parade on Whitehall street for a short time, I left my husband, who was going straight home, and walked by the Atlanta Shoe company's store, where for five years my husband had been employed as a shoe repairer. His mail always came there when we were in Atlanta, and I went by to see about the collection of a pension which he gets because of a wound received in the Spanish-American war.

STARTLED BY SCREAMS.

There I got into a religious discussion with a gentleman who had heard a lecture I attended a few days before. After some time I walked on up Forsyth street toward Alabama to get a car, and as I passed the National Pencil factory I was startled by a woman's shrill scream.

I stopped and grasped a railing which runs along there.

It was by a grating that seemed to lead in the direction of the factory basement.

Then the scream came again. "Don't; please don't!" the woman or girl screamed. Then the sound was stopped, just as if some one had placed his hands over her mouth.

The scream and the plea for

WOMAN SAYS SHE HEARD GIRL SCREAM AT DIFFERENT HOUR

mercy came again, but each time it was stopped before I could hear a name.

I thought some negro was whipping or killing his wife, and I looked around to see if there were any men near by. I didn't see a soul in the block except one woman, and then I walked on and boarded my car. I mentioned the occurrence at the supper table that night. I thought no more about it until Sunday afternoon, when Mr. Williams came home very much excited and told me that a girl was murdered in the factory, and I must have heard her screams. Then he notified the detectives.

Mrs. Simmons' recollection as to time is very hazy, and she cannot fix the time of the screams except by the parade. She thinks the parade started at 1 o'clock.

During the week after the murder she says two city detectives, who gave their names as Webb and Harper, came to her residence and talked to her. When they left they told her to talk to no one except the solicitor general, she says, and a few days later she was subpenaed to Mr. Hugh Dorsey's office.

In the original affidavit, which Mrs. Simmons says she signed, it is stated the solicitor general tried hard to induce her to say that the time was later than that which she fixed.

This is inaccurate, she says.

The solicitor told her to refresh her memory and repeatedly told her that the girl must have been murdered earlier in the day.

Mrs. Simmons states that she thinks it must have been between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. Dorsey, she says, made her go over the details of the visit to the city that day, but she could not fix the time any earlier.

CONSIDERED NEW WITNESS.

During the course of her talk about the time with the solicitor Mrs. Simmons says she thinks the solicitor remarked that Frank was not supposed to be in the factory at the time she heard screams, but she is not sure of this.

Mrs. Simmons is considered a new witness of importance by Captain Burke for the reason that she is positive she heard the screams after the parade had started.

That screams came from the basement of the factory there is no doubt, Mrs. Simmons declares.

The defense of Leo M. Frank has always contended that Mary Phagan was murdered in the basement of the factory, not on the second floor, where the office is located.

Mrs. Simmons describes the spot in detail where she stood and listened to the screams, which came at intervals of 30 or 40 seconds.

Williams, who is a wall paper hanger, moved his family to Birmingham before the trial of Frank and Mrs. Simmons came with him. After she arirved she wrote the solicitor general, giving him her address, and saying she was willing to come to Atlanta if he considered it necessary. She heard nothing from him and after the trial she discussed the time theory in the murder case with Mrs. A. B. Davis, a former Atlanta woman now residing in Birmingham. Mrs. Davis persuaded her to write Attorney Reuben R. Arnold, of the Frank defense, about hearing the screams.

Mrs. Simmons is in poor health and declares she will be frightened out of her wits, if she has to come to court.

"But I am willing to go," she declared, "if it is in the interest of justice."

"Besides," the aged woman added, smiling, "I lived in Atlanta 30 years of my life and raised my family there, and wouldn't mind going back. I will never leave home if I go there again."

MRS. SIMMONS' AFFIDAVIT.

State of Alabama.
County of Jefferson.

Before me, Griffin Lamkin, a notary public in and for said state and county, comes Mrs. J. B. Simmons, known to or being made known to me, of Birmingham, Ala., who under oath deposes and says:

That on the 26th day of April, 1913, she was in Atlanta, Ga., and was calling at 25 West Alabama street at the Atlanta Shoe company's place of business, and while there, became involved in a religious argument with Mr. Barron's cousin, who she believes is called Riley, and the deponent believes it was about 2:20 or 2:30 o'clock p. m. when the discussion took place. Deponent says that the decoration day parade was in progress at the time of the argument referred to above, and was moving down Whitehall street and south on Hunter street toward Pryor street. Deponent further says that between the hours of 2 p. m and 3 p m. she left the Atlanta Shoe company's place of business, going north up Alabama street to Forsyth street, and then passed the National Pencil company's factory, it being her intention to go to 28 Haynes street, where she had a temporary room. Deponent further says that when she got in front of the National Pencil company's factory, she heard a girl or woman screaming and crying and saying, "Please don't," and then heard the voice shut off suddenly making a noise or sound much as though one person was holding their hand over the mouth of another person. Deponent says when she heard the cries she stopped and listened and says the sound of the voice in distress apparently came from the basement of the said National Pencil company's building. Deponent believes the sound came from the basement of the building referred to because there is a grating in the front of the building and because it is open beneath the grating and because the doors facing the street of the building were all closed. And also because she noted an open place beneath the grating, which led into the basement of the building.

THOUGHT IT WAS RIOT.

Deponent further says that at the time she heard the screaming of the girl or woman the thought occurred to her that some man was perhaps whipping his wife or that perhaps it was some negro riot, and after waiting a short time and hearing no further similar sounds, deponent decided to go on to her destination. Deponent further says that as soon as she reached her home she related the circumstances described herein to her son-in-law, who is Mr. A. B. Williams, and who was at that time living at 28 Haynes street. Deponent further says that she thought no more of the incident or occurrence until the following morning when her son-in-law came into her room and told her that Mary Phagan had been murdered in the National Pencil company's factory.

Deponent further deposes and says that at the time she gave the information referred to herein to her son-in-law, that he insisted she should go before the solicitor general of Fulton county and give him the benefit of the information she had outlined to him—the same as she had outlined herein. Deponent says that on or about May 5 she was subpenaed to appear before the solicitor general, who is Mr. Hugh Dorsey, and that she answered the subpena, and made and signed a sworn statement in his office, said statement being taken by Mr. Dorsey in his own handwriting, and which set forth the same facts as described in this statement.

Deponent further deposes and says that the solicitor general tried very hard to induce her to swear that the screaming which she had heard was at a much later time in the day and he called her attention to the fact that Mr. Frank was not in the factory at the time deponent was describing and deponent told the solicitor general that she would not testify to anything except the truth, even though her testimony did not suit the solicitor. Deponent further says that she left her address with the solicitor general and fully expected that she would be subpenaed to testify at the trial of Leo M. Frank, but she was never subpenaed—the cause of which she does not yet understand. Deponent further deposes that she gives this information of her own free will and accord without any promise of a reward whatsoever.

CHARLESTON WINS FIGHT FOR SITE OF LIGHTHOUSE

Congress Has Appropriated $125,000 for Depot to Be Built Soon

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The new lighthouse service depot for the south Atlantic coast will be located at Charleston, on a site on the mainland known as Chisholm's Mill landing.

Secretary Redfield today selected the Charleston site and thus ended a contest which has raged for months among Charleston, Wilmington, Savannah, Brunswick, Fernandina and Jacksonville. Congress has appropriated $125,000 for the depot which will be the supply station for light house inspection, district No. 6.

Extensive hearings on the advantages of the competing cities were held here severale weeks ago. The depot for the district was formerly located at Charleston, but not on the mainland, and was destroyed in a gale. The new location is a safer one, officials say.

Detective Burns Expected To Arrive at Any Time

Detective William J. Burns, who was expected to arrive in Atlanta Friday morning to confer with his agents here relative to their investigations into the Phagan murder, did not put in his appearance. Mr. Burns had not stated definitely that he would be here Friday, but the impression got abroad that he would. It is understood Mr. Burns will be in Atlanta within the next few days.

A Kidney Remedy That Has Thousands of Friends

I believe Dr. Kilmer & Company of Binghamton, N. Y., manufacture one of the best medicines for the kidneys, liver and blood, called "Swamp-Root" ever produced, and I take pleasure in recommending it to others.

After trying several remedies for the kidneys and liver trouble, which apparently had taken on chronic form, I was urged to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a fair trial and wrote for a trial bottle, which was promptly mailed to my address. I was so well pleased with the action of the remedy that I purchased it in five bottle lots and continued taking the remedy until I was fully restored to a healthy condition.

Prior to accepting this remedy I was almost daily afflicted with hemorrhage from the nose which physicians were unable to check or prescribe a remedy for, unquestionably caused by the condition of my kidneys, my heart at times affected, my stomach and other organs in sympathy, all of which have been completely restored to a normal condition. I weigh fifteen pounds more than I did three years ago, the result of complying with the printed directions found with a bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

I have been in the Railway Service for the past forty-two years and have been a resident of this city for the past twenty-three years.

Very truly yours.
E. B. PITNEY,

Bile Inhibits Germ Growth

We are told that all disease is simply an excess of germs. Germs get under the skin and make a sore. It festers and becomes inflamed.

Where one germ gets under the skin, millions go into the body with the food we eat. They should not hurt us a particle, and would not if the Bile flowed freely.

Bile stops—inhibits—the breeding or multiplication of these germs, and, as long as it flows freely, we have no trouble.

May Apple Root was called "Mandrake" in the Bible. The Doctors call it "Podophyllin." For ages it has been used as a Bile-Starter. In the old form it griped and sickened—but now it is put up in a formula called "PoDoLax" in which all the old faults have been eliminated. Children take it without resistance. It releases the Bile as sure as you take it.

Bile purifies the food in the intestines after Nature's own method. The blood abounds with life and no foreign germ can breed or multiply in the Bile-purified food.

A 50c bottle of PoDoLax will prove this, and you will say—"Why didn't some one think of this before?" To offer you something as good as PoDoLax is to question your judgment.

TO TAKE ACTION ON PASTOR'S RESIGNATION

Presbyterians Considering Many Prominent Men to Take Place of Dr. Walker

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church will take action on the resignation of its pastor, Dr. Hugh K. Walker, at the morning service Sunday. Every effort has been made to keep Dr. Walker in Atlanta, but as he has announced his intention of accepting the call to California, a new pastor will be chosen for the Atlanta church.

A number of prominent men have been considered, but as yet no decision has been made.

WIFE OF STREET CAR MAN ASKS ALIMONY

Alleging that she and her husband have been in "a bona fide state of separation" ever since he ordered her from the house, never to return, on March 2, Mrs. Jessie Carlock filed a petition for alimony and the possession of Marion, the seven-year-old daughter, in superior court Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Carlock states that her husband, a street car conductor, earns a good salary and has an equity of $2,500 in a house and lot at 66 Dargan street. She does not ask for divorce but wants temporary and permanent alimony, attorneys' fees, and the child. Moore & Branch, attorneys, filed the suit.

MRS. WILLIAM A. MOORE WILL BE BURIED FRIDAY

Mrs. William A. Moore will be buried Friday afternoon in Oakland cemetery. Services will be held at 3 o'clock from the residence, 850 Peachtree street, Rev. Hugh K. Follies Pleases Big Crowd; Errol and Tinney the Hits

Ziegfeld Spectacle a Feast for the Eye, but 'Twas a Chilly Night for the Poor Show Girls

Atlanta—Ziegfeld's Follies.
FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BIJOU—"The County Sheriff."

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater management.)

Leon Errol and Frank Tinney furnished an hour of as roisterous amusement as anyone could ask to patrons of the Atlanta Thursday night, Mr. Errol's two bits of drunken foolishness being so uproariously funny that many a vest button was broken off, while Mr. Tinney's well known minstrel talents were resurrected for a monologue unusually good.

They were, in my opinion, the only really worth while features of the widely boosted "Ziegfeld's Follies." But I realize that I'm in the minority. Most of the other folk who jammed themselves into the theater yelled themselves hoarse after the songs, cheered wildly at every joke and strained their eyes to see everything the show girls showed. And they couldn't have seen much more if they'd peeked through the dressing room key holes. Some of those costumes would go from Key West to Hong Kong for 1 cent postage.

Not that there's anything "suggestive" about the Follies. There's a considerable exhibition of the human form divine, but the lines are free from dirt, the situations clean and the whole show rather jolly and good natured. It isn't exactly a sermon, neither is it high-brow drama, but it drew more Atlantians on its first night than the Stratford-on-Avon players played to in four performances. Which goes to prove that folks know what they want and wait until they get it.

The opening chorus introduces a dozen Broadway beauties garbed in earrings and hiding behind muffs. They shivered visibly on the chilly stage, but one must be willing to make sacrifices for one's art. The Turkish bath girls, swathed in clinging towels, were a trifle warmer. September Morn, posing in a picture frame for a considerable interval, had no interference from the rather considerable squad of bluecoats who leaned on the back rail. Atlanta cops certainly are vigilant when it comes to keeping an eye on the drama. I counted twenty-nine at the Evelyn Thaw matinee.

Jose Collins is pretty and has beautiful gowns and a rather nice voice, which was at its best in her final number. Elizabeth Brice, who does several songs and a clever telephone-girl sketch, made a big hit. Nat Wills does his old conversation and songs in his familiar tramp suit, and a bit or two of new stuff in evening clothes.

The scenery is gorgeous, the girls pretty, the music tuneful enough, and some of the comedy bright. The company is big enough for a Hippodrome show. Taken as a whole, it seemed to go great with the crowd. But you never can persuade me that a show which has to depend upon a trick horse which sits down on a drunken man for a laugh, and a resurrection of the Stars and Stripes, the "Spirit of '76" and an imitation of the president for a first-act climax, is the snappiest thing off the Great White Way.

DUDLEY GLASS.

Seats are now on sale at the Atlanta for the engagement of the big musical success, "A Modern Eve," which will be given Monday and Tuesday with a Tuesday matinee. This play is imported from Berlin and is one of the snappiest and cleanest musical affairs staged in some years. It has a dozen clever musical numbers and as many dancing numbers, all of which are fine and worth while. The play is assuredly a winner and is certain to be well received in Atlanta. Edward Hume is at the head of the cast, which is worth while in every respect.

This is a merry week at the Forsyth. The busy theater has been crowded to capacity at all performances with a tremendous advance sale for the remaining four performances. There are many theatergoers who declare the bill is superior to any offered here recently.

Laddie Cliff, the English comedian, has scored a perfect hit. His work is entirely different from the average "single" in that he uses all new material and his dances are absolutely new. Harry Tighe and company, presenting a one-act musical comedy, wins the admiration of every audience and cause some of the amusement seekers to return to the theater for a second treat.

A great novelty is the offering of Ismed, the Turkish pianist, who is certainly a wonderful entertainer at the piano. His work is appreciated by every one and his success is evidenced by repeated curtain calls.

The bill for next week promises to be of real value. It will be headed by William A. Brady's smart one-act play, "Beauty Is Only Skin Deep," a satire on the "beauty parlor." The sketch will be played by eight qualified actresses and promises to be a feature of real drawing power.

Man Who Followed An Actress Is Chased Into Court and Fined

Denizens of Edgewood avenue were surprised and delighted Thursday afternoon at the spectacle of a well-dressed young man hot-footing it along the pavement with a beautiful young woman in pursuit of him.

Of course the spectacle of a woman after a man is no strange one, but in this case the young lady appeared to be, and was, more angry than enamored. With the aid of Policeman Hurst she finally ran down the quary and the whole story came out in police court on Friday morning.

Miss Kate Bryant, an actress, testified that she was annoyed by Andrew Gust.

"This man stopped and spoke to me on Edgewood avenue," she told the judge. "Then he followed me down to the Edgewood hotel and insulted me by his words in the lobby. I told him what I thought of him and he sneaked out the door. But I was mad clear through. I followed him. He ran. So I ran. He ran faster. I ran faster. This policeman also ran and we caught him."

"It appears to me that Gust is the 'also ran' in this case," said Recorder Broyles. "Fifty dollars' fine."

ALLEGED SLAYER RUSHED HERE TO AVOID TROUBLE

Forest Adams May Be Tried in Atlanta for Killing W. C. Chivers, of Buckhead

Rushed to Atlanta because of threats of violence, Forest Adams, who shot and killed W. C. Chivers, chief of police of Buckhead, in Morgan county, Saturday, was carried to the Fulton county jail Thursday night.

Forest was first taken to the Morgan county court house at Madison Wednesday afternoon, before Judge J. B. Park. Frightened by the angry crowds and by the threats of lynching, he had his lawyers request a postponement of the trial, and asked that he be sent to Fulton county until the lynching rumors had subsided.

It is thought his case may be tried here under a change of venue. The prisoner is the son of a wealthy planter. The shooting of Chivers is said by Adams' attorneys to have been done in self defense.

GOOD HOTELS WILL BOOST TOWN, SAYS J. F. LETTON

"A wide-awake hotel man can do more for the advancement of his town than half a dozen merchants can do," said J. F. Letton, manager of the Hotel Ansley, in his address to the Atlanta Ad Men Thursday at their weekly luncheon

"Give a town or city a good hotel, and it will give that city a good name," he added. He said that a good hotel is a natural promoter of the right sort of publicity.

Hubert F. Miller, of Chicago, addressed the Ad Men briefly. Mr. Miller is managing director of the Chicago Association of Commerce. He is in Atlanta making arrangements for a southern tour of his organization.

GRAIN DAMAGED $10,000 BY FIRE IN WAREHOUSE

Grain in the Marietta street warehouse of T. H. Brooks & Co., was damaged by fire Thursday night to the extent of $10,000 according to one of the members of the firm. The loss was covered by insurance. Sparks from a switch engine in the Terminal yards are supposed to have been the cause.

The temporay warehouse in East Point will fill orders until the Marietta street warehouse is repaired.

BOYS LEAP FROM TRAIN HANDCUFFED TO ESCAPE

Arrested on Charge of Stealing Automobile Which They Pawned for $10

For the alleged theft of an automobile on Whitehall street two weeks ago and the subsequent pawning of it for $10 in Tennessee, warrants are out for Walter Burdett, aged 23 years, and Carl Burdett, aged 16, both of whom were arrested by the owner of the automobile who followed them to Cincinnati, but they later escaped by leaping off the train handcuffed and beating it over the hills of Kentucky.

The automobile was the property of J. H. Roberts a city salesman for the John Silvey company. When the automobile was stolen it was reported to the police that the two Burdett boys and H. B. Brown, aged 16 years, had driven it to Tennessee and pawned it in Louden.

They were traced from Tennessee to Cincinnati through postcards young Brown sent home to his father, W. H. Brown. The latter conferred with Roberts and the two agreed to go after the boys and bring them home. Brown was sworn in ag deputy sheriff.

Friday morning the elder Brown and Roberts returned to Atlanta plus the Brown boy but minus the two Burdette boys.

"We got all three of them on the train in Cincinnati all right," said Roberts. "I sat in the front seat with young Brown. Mr. Brown sat behind me with the Burdette boys handcuffed to each other. Somewhere near Perry, Ky., I turned around to say something. Mr. Brown was asleep and the two Burdett boys gone. I asked the conductor if he had seen them and he said he saw two boys hop off at the last station and disappear over the nearest hill. He said they weren't handcuffed. That was the last we saw of them."

Roberts went to Louden, Tenn., and recovered his car. Warrants are out for the Burdett boys, but not has as yet ben issued against young Brown.

HYOMEI SOOTHES, PURIFIES, HEALS CATARRH ILLS

When you have frequent attacks of sneezing or head colds, tickling in the throat, dull headaches, crusts in the nose, raising of mucus or spasmodic coughing, and seem lacking in vitality, you are affected with catarrh—a disease that cannot be neglected since it often leads to a serious if not fatal ailment. The ravages of catarrh will in time wreck the health of even the strongest person. Besides, catarrh is so unpleasant—it makes your life miserable and annoys your friends.

At the first catarrhal symptom surely use Hyomei. It's the right-to-the-point remedy—you breathe it—no nauseating drugs to upset your stomach.

Hyomei is a combination of antiseptic oils that you breathe into the nose, throat and lungs in the natural way. Just put a few drops into the inhaler and breathe it in. The germicidal fumes mix with the air and at once penetrate to all nooks and crevices of the mucous membrane lining the breathing organs. It destroys the dangerous germs that may be lurking in the delicate tissues, and immediately soothes and heals the raw and inflamed membrane.

Hyomei is sold with an agreement to refund the purchase price to anyone who is not benefited. You surely can afford to try it on an offer like this. All druggists have it. Get the complete outfit, $1.00 size.—(Advt.)

MAKES RHEUMATISM PROMPTLY DISAPPEAR

Chronic, Crippled-up Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of New Remedy are Taken.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can surely avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't possibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter all the poisons from the blood and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for curing chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or overcome urinary disorders. (Advt.)

Spring Suits and Suitings. Spring Hats and Shirts and everything new for Spring — —

Quite in keeping with the pace we've set in the past for showing the new things while they're new, we would direct the attention of all those who have an interest in fashionable clothes to see these really new and different models we now have on display.

Emphasis should be placed on the Tango model, the Crescent, the Albert and the Carleton, which possess the most advanced ideas in natural fitting garments. They're lightly made—half skeleton, with athletic vests—have fronts that are soft and graceful, with new collars and lapels and new pockets which are distinctive and different.

The price range this season begins at $15, then $18 and $20, and so on up to $35, for the very top-notchers.

Advanced styles in stiff and soft Hats are to be seen here which you will very likely not see at another store, for they, too, are almost warm with newness. These are $3 and $4.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More.

A Physician's Advice.

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy normal, amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strengthening fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by the Jacobs Pharmacy and other good druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution.—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more. (Advt.)

Freckles

February and March Worst Months for This Trouble—How to Remove Easily

There's a reason why nearly everybody freckles in February and March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of othine, double strength, from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning, and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they will stay all summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if othine fails.—(Advt.)

MANY LETTERS INDORSE THE JOURNAL EDITORIAL

Here Are a Few of Numerous Communications Urging a New Trial for Frank

The Atlanta Journal and its editor have received several hundred letters and telegrams commending and indorsing the editorial, "Frank Should Have a New Trial," which appeared in these columns on Tuesday.

These letters and telegrams were in the main written by citizens of Atlanta and Georgia, but many of the paper's readers in other states have taken occasion to express their approval of the editorial.

Below is printed the expressions of Colonel F. J. Paxon, of Atlanta; Captain R. M. Clayton, chief of construction for the city of Atlanta; Forrest Adair, of Atlanta; W. H. Williams, cashier of the Farmers' State bank, of Lumpkin; Attorney James H. Gilbert, of Atlanta; Attorney J. W. Landrum, of Carnesville; J. C. Williams, editor of the Greensboro Herald-Journal; Rev. Frank S. Hudson, pastor of the East Point Methodist church; J. F. Alman, Jr., of the Greenwood (S. C.) Brokerage company, and George D. Head, of Tunnell Hill.

FROM F. J. PAXON.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11, 1914.
Mr. Jas. R. Gray,
Editor The Atlanta Journal,
City.
My Dear Mr. Gray:

I read with interest your editorial in last night's paper, in re: The Frank case and your demand that justice be shown.

The editorial is along the right line. I do not know whether Frank is guilty or innocent, all I do know is that there was a doubt in the mind of Judge Roan as expressed by him from the bench, and I know further that the state of Georgia cannot afford to hang a man with a question resting as to his guilt.

Hence, my congratulations to you on your strong editorial, demanding as it does in the name of justice solely: a new trial.

Mr. Davison unites with me in this letter.

I am, with personal regards,
Yours,
F. J. PAXON.

FROM FORREST ADAIR.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11, 1914.
Mr. James R. Gray,
Care Journal, Atlanta, Ga.
My Dear Mr. Gray:

I want to commend you for the forceful, fair, honest and courageous editorial in yesterday's issue in regard to the Frank trial. It is simply irresistible, and required nerve to come out with it.

Yours very sincerely,
FORREST ADAIR.

FROM REV. F. S. HUDSON.

East Point, Ga., March 11, 1914.
Mr. James R. Gray,
Atlanta, Ga.
My Dear Sir.

From the depths of my soul I want to thank and commend you for the bold, brave, manly and magnificent editorial in yesterday's Journal concerning Leo M. Frank.

Yours in Christ,
FRANK S. HUDSON.

FROM CAPTAIN CLAYTON.

Department of
Chief of Construction,
March 11, 1914.
Mr. Jas. R. Gray,
Editor Atlanta Journal,
Atlanta, Ga.
Dear Sir:

I wish to commend you for your very manly editorial in The Journal of yesterday afternoon in re the Frank case. I fully agree with every statement you make and it is refreshing to find a man who has the courage of his convictions.

Yours very truly,
R. M. CLAYTON.

FROM J. F. ALMAN, JR.

Greenwood, S. C., March 12, 1914.
The Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.
Gentlemen:—I admire the stand that you are taking in the celebrated Frank case. I believe justice demands that Frank be given a new trial, and if he be guilty let him suffer the extreme penalty of the law.

At the time he was tried and convicted I, like the majority of other people, was clamoring for a conviction, but after serious consideration of the case I doubt very much whether Frank is guilty or not, but there is one thing I am sure of and that is justice demands that Frank be granted a new trial.

Yours truly,
J. F. ALMAN, JR.

FROM W. H. WILLIAMS.

Lumpkin, Ga., March 13, 1914.
Editor of Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.
My Dear Sir:—As an humble citizen of the state of Georgia, I want to extend my congratulations, and express my hearty approval of the position you have taken in the Frank case.

Every fair-minded man in this great state should be, not only willing, but anxious, that he should have a new trial.

Since the first whisper of suspicion against him, the mad desire to hang him seems to have overshadowed everything else, and the one great thing of finding the real murderer has been overlooked or forgotten.

Thanking you for your manly editorial, and hoping that it will accomplish what it should, I am

Very truly yours,
W. H. WILLIAMS.

FROM J. W. LANDRUM.

March 12, 1914.
Editor Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.
Dear Sir: Let ce cofmend your editorial in yesterday's paper anent the Frank case. That trial last August was an outrage against fairness and decency. The circumstances justify your editorial and more like it, if the state is to be saved the opprobium of a judicial murder. Very truly,
J. W. LANDRUM.

FROM J. H. GILBERT.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11, 1914.
To The Editor of The Journal.
Dear Sir: I beg to congratulate you upon the manly attitude taken in the editorial which appeared in your issue of 10th inst., which is, in my opinion, an absolutely fair criticism of the Frank case. As the only practical way in which I can now back up this opinion, I beg to enter my subscription for a year, and to send paper to my address below stated. I enclose my check for $6.

Yours truly,
JAMES H. GILBERT.
724 Piedmont Avenue.

FROM J. C. WILLIAMS.

Greensboro, Ga., March 11, 1914.
Atlanta Journal, Atlanta, Ga.
Congratulations on your fairness in Leo Frank editorial. I do not think defendant was given a fair, just and legal trial.

J. C. WILLIAMS.

FROM GEORGE D. HEAD.

Tunnel Hill, Ga., March 12, 1914.
Mr. Editor: In The Atlanta Journal of the 11th inst. is an editorial under caption "Frank Should Have a New Trial." I wish to express an unqualified indorsement to every line of said editorial.

In times of excitement, reason is often dethroned and justice relegated to the background. With no desire but to know the truth and to see justice meted out to the guilty party, the writer kept up with the trial of Leo M. Frank as reported in the newspapers from day to day. With no prejudice for or against any one, a strong desire to see the guilty party pay the penalty the law inflicts, my whole being revolted at the conviction of Frank, upon the character of evidence and the means used to accomplish the end. The record is made up and Frank has been sentenced to hang on April 17. Guilty or not guilty, Frank has not had a fair and impartial trial. Do you ask me why I say this? I refer you to the evidence, the environments and means used to secure his conviction. The state of Georgia cannot afford to hang this man without giving such a trial as is guaranteed to every American citizen. Judicial murder is a greater crime than murder by mob violence. From the greatest to the least, every citizen of Georgia is interested in a full, free, fair and just administration of the law. Not only the present, but future generations are affected by what we do. Then "Let justice be done, though the heavens fall."

Very truly yours,
GEORGE D. HEAD.

Davis Is Killed While Trying to Break Jail

(By Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—The police of this city were today notified by the sheriff of Marion county California, that John H. Davis, known as Daval and also as Andrews, of Philadelphia, was shot and killed last night while attempting to break jail. The sheriff requested that Davis' mother be notified.

Davis was turned over to the police of San Rafael, Cal., where he was also wanted on the charge of passing worthless checks. Davis deserted another wife here, the police said, six years ago.

"Think Again"

"Repent for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand"
Matt. 4:17

Jesus said:

"But what think you? A certain man had two sons; and he came to the first and said: 'Son, go work today in my vineyard.'

"He answered and said: 'I will not'; but afterwards he repented and went.

"And he came to the second and said likewise. And he said: 'I go, sir'; and went not.

"Which of them did the will of his father?"

Are you idle? Why? Did you not in the Church, the house of your Father, promise to go? Are you hindering His work?

He warned—

"Verily, I say unto you, that the publicans and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you."

"Not every one that sayeth unto me 'Lord, Lord' shall enter into the kingdom of Heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father who is in Heaven."

Judas kissed Him and said: "Hail, Master."

But Peter, in fear for his life, with oaths and curses cried: "I know Him not."

Judas died. But Peter lived. Why? He repented; he thought again; and today his life gives hope to all who strive to follow Christ.

In our age, Satan would never offer coin to Judas. He would give him position and place where he could make an honest (?) dollar; and Judas would deny that he had been bought.

Thank God! Men of the Judas type are rare. We know of none in Georgia who would deliberately sell his Lord for gold.

But there are many like Peter in denying Him.

Have you never denied your Lord?

Again, in our day, the test is changed. You are not called, as was Peter, in terror of death, to say with your lips, "Yea, He is my Lord." But there is the fear of being called "queer", a "fanatic" or an "impractical dreamer."

Did you ever approve the making of money by withholding a living wage? Did you ever sanction the darkening of children's lives in factories and mills to make dividends for men?

You would scarcely claim such to be confessing Christ your Lord and Savior.

And to stand consenting to the setting apart of a district where men may grow rich upon the shame of women—

Surely this is a denial of Him worse than Peter's oaths and curses.

And this—

Judge Broyles says—

"In 1907 there were 7,000 cases of drunkenness in Atlanta. In 1913 3,000 cases came before me. A decrease of 4,000 cases, despite the increase of 50,000 inhabitants, proves that prohibition has produced good."

HE IS RIGHT. BUT CONSIDER 3,000 DRUNKS. THINK OF THE HOMES, THE WOMEN AND CHILDREN MADE WRETCHED LAST YEAR BY THESE WHO HAD TO BE HALED BEFORE THE RECORDER'S COURT. THINK OF THOSE NOT KNOWN, BUT WHO YET CAUSED MISERY AND PAIN IN THEIR HOMES.

And recall these—

There was the mother who again and again begged that her boy might go free, only at last to have him come home to beat her up—the man let go, who in the same night killed his wife—the two little children in the house where the mother had been shot by the drunken barkeeper.

Do you confess Christ as a Savior? Or do you deny your Lord, when you encourage the sale of this poison? And before answering, will you not remember—not to stifle pleasure but to stop the spread of this agony and disgrace—a law forbidding the sale of liquor in any form in any place in Georgia, has been passed?

Consider and answer—

Are you serving Him who died for you—are you at work in the vineyard when you, directly or indirectly, try to teach men, who have sworn upon God's word to uphold this law, to perjure themselves?

You need only a second thought.

Heed Him. He is pleading—

"Go work today."

Deny Him not.

God grant that you hear, not man, but Him saying—

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF MEN AND RELIGION FORWARD MOVEMENT

"TRUCE OF GOD" URGED IN ALL CHRISTENDOM

Proclamation on Suggested World's Conference on Faith and Order Acted On

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—A proclamation calling for a "truce of God" throughout Christendom, was adopted here yesterday by the American commission on the suggested world's conference on faith and order. This action was taken after the commission had listened to a report submitted by the American deputation of clergymen, who in December presented to the non-Anglican churches in England, Scotland and Ireland the proposal of American churches in the matter of a world's conference. Protestant and Catholic clergymen and laymen who were present from many cities agreed that such a conference should be held within three or five years to discuss the question of making church union more effective.

The American deputation stated that thirty-one groups of churchmen had been met abroad and that twenty-seven of these extended invitations for further conferences. "In every instance," the report said, "we were so sympathetically received that we are able to state that from all the conferences we have definite promise of all communions appointing commissions world conference." The deputation consisted of Rev. Dr. Newman Smith, of New Haven; Rev. Dr. William Henry Roberts, of Philadelphia; Rev. Dr. Peter Ainslie, of Baltimore. The proclamation adopted reads in part:

"The love of Christ for the world constrains us to ask you to join with us and His disciples of every name in proclaiming among the churches throughout Christendom 'a truce of God.' Let the questions that have troubled us be fairly and clearly stated. Let scholars, Catholic and Protestant, give freely to the people whatever light from their historical studies they can throw over these subjects. We pray also that each Christian communion may avoid, as far as possible, a controversial declaration of its own position in relation to others, but rather that all things be said and done as if in preparation for the coming together of faithful disciples from every nation and tongue to implore a fresh outpouring of God's holy spirit."

MANY WANT CLAIMS ON TURKEY ISLAND

and Office Swamped by Petitions for Newly-Discovered Oil Lands

(By Associated Press.)

GUTHRIE, Okla., March 13.—Filings or land on Turkey Island, in the Arkansas river, in the Osage nation of Oklahoma, almost swamped the United States land office here today. The island contains only sixty acres, but the land is considered valuable because of recent discoveries of oil there. The papers filed were for mineral rights on ten and twenty-acre tracts.

The title of the island has been in controversy for years. In a recent decision of the supreme court the question as to whether the title was vested in the state or the federal government was left open. It is said that drilling rights, when legally established, will be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars for each tract.

EXPORT TRADE INCREASES $1,000,000,000 IN DECADE

Raw Cotton Maintains Leading Position on List With Gain of $196,000,000

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The export trade of the United States during the ten years from 1903 to 1913 increased by approximately one billion dollars, whereas in the preceding thirty years, 1873 to 1903, it increased only $917,000,000 according to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce today. Comparing the 1913 figures with those ten years earlier, it is shown that raw cotton maintained its leading position in the list of exports, having gained $196,000,000, or 52 per cent; while breadstuffs fell from second position in 1903 to third in 1913 and meat and dairy products from third to fourth place, these groups having been passed by iron and steel, which gained $195,000,000, or about 200 per cent, machinery and engines being the largest factors.

Mineral oils advanced $76,000,000, which was more than 100 per cent; copper manufactures $101,000,000, or 200 per cent; and wood and manufactures thereof $52,000,000, or about 90 per cent.

Breadstuffs barely held their own in value in exports during the decade with a gain of $3,000,000 and but for the marked advance in barley, oats and rice, would have actually declined since the exports of corn fell from 95,000,000 to 47,000,000 bushels and those of wheat from 160,000,000 to 155,000,000.

TOO MANY OFFICERS AT RIFLE MATCHES

New Rules Advises That Men in the Ranks Should Get Preference

New rules governing state, interstate and national rifle matches have been adopted by the war department's division of militia affairs. The division has come to the conclusion that too many staff officers have participated in these matches, and that the personnel of the teams has not changed sufficiently each year.

It is pointed out by the division that the purpose of the war department in providing for these matches is to afford an opportunity for the men who will really carry rifles in times of war and the men who will instruct them to obtain practice which will increase their skill at shooting.

Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash has received circulars and reports from the division of militia affairs at Washington indicating the new policy of the war department. In future members of rifle match teams holding a rank higher than line captain will not be allowed to draw pay from the federal appropriation. And in future ten out of the twelve men constituting the state's team in the national matches must be men who did not participate in the matches of previous years.

The report of General A. L. Mills, chief of the division of militia affairs, shows that last year the total amount paid out of the federal appropriation to officers who were members of rifle match teams was $70,000, as against $7,000 paid to enlisted men.

In this report General Mills makes the following comment:

"Examination of the foregoing tables shows that the team is, in many cases, composed of officers who not only do not carry a rifle in war, but who, from excessive rank they have, cannot, in time of peace, act as instructors to the enlisted men."

LOCKED OUT OF HOME, MAKE APPEAL TO COURT

Man and Wife Said to Be in Arrears in Rent Have Landlord Arrested

Because E. H. King, a chauffeur, it is alleged, would not pay his board bill of $35, B. Muray, an insurance solicitor, who subleases part of 280 Houston street to King locked up the house and every room in it Thursday morning.

King and his wife, when they found themselves unable to get into their rooms, swore out a wararnt in Judge Luther Z. Rosser, Jr.'s, division of the municipal court, and Murary was haled before Judge Rosser Friday morning.

He admitted locking the Kings out, but stated that they owed him $35 for rent, which they had refused to pay after repeated demands, and that also they owed a gas bill for so long that the company threatened to cut off the supply from the entire house unless it was paid. Murray, to prevent this and to force payment of rent, locked the Kings out.

Judge Rosser told him that a distress warrant was the proper thing under such circumstances, and that he ought not to have taken the law into his own hands as he did. So Murray was bouund over under $300 bail.

JUDGE HILL ADJOURNS COURT UNTIL MONDAY

Case of P. A. Curtis, Accused of Killing Man With Auto, Is Postponed

After disposing of eight cases in which bonds were forfeited, and after postponing one case until Monday, Judge Ben H. Hill adjourned the criminal division of superior court Friday morning until Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The court will then meet on the fourth floor of the Thrower building.

The case postponed until Monday was that of P. A. Curtis, charged with involuntary manslaughter in the commission of an unlawful act. Curtis is charged with being the driver of an automobile which ran over and killed Sam Goldstein, on Washington street, on August 27, 1913. The case was postponed because Attorney Tom Felder, representing the defendant, was ill.

STOLEN JEWELRY LOCATED BY OFFICIALS IN EUROPE

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—About $65,000 of the $250,000 in jewelry stolen from Mrs. John H. Hanan at Narragansett Pier last July has been found in Amsterdam and Paris, according to announcement published here today.

Private detectives here and abroad now fix the robbery on a band of international thieves, including a woman, whose appearance enabled her to mingle in society and locate collections of jewelry.

The same band probably had a hand in the $75,000 robbery of Mrs. Charles Cary Rumsey (Miss Mary Harriman), in Newport, and in other notable thefts.

SEE IF THE CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs"

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—(Advt.)

EPITHETS PASSED FREELY IN DIVORCE CASE HEARING

"Snake," "Tiger," "Tigress," "Indian" Used at Odd Times in Chaffins' Suit

The air in Judge W. D. Ellis' courtroom Friday morning must have shivered at the various epithets hurled back and forth in the final stage of the divorce suit between Nettie Pearl Chaffin and Rufus Dana Chaffin and the fight for possession of little Catherine Chaffin, their child.

"A red-headed snake," "a tiger," "a tigress," "an Indian," "a dove of peace"—these were some of the terms various witnesses applied to others.

According to Mrs. Chaffin, speaking from the witness stand, Mr. Chaffin, who she characterized Friday as a "bag of skin and bones," also "looked like a snake when he was drunk." On another occasion, says Mrs. Chaffin, "he rusheed up the street like an Indian and tried to break into the house, wild to see his little girl." Once again, she said, when drunk, "he pulled a knife and stood over the little girl, asleep in her crib, glaring at her like a tiger."

John Y. Smith, attorney for Mr. Chaffin, stated to the jury that "that woman (Mrs. Chaffin) looked like a tigress when testifying yesterday; and she looks like a tigress now.

"She has so much venom in her heart that, if it could be liberated, it would destroy and burn down the new court house building. She has no regard for any man, woman or child on this earth," Mr. Smith continued.

Mark Bolding, attorney for Mrs. Chaffin, stated in his argument that "Mrs. Chaffin said her husband looked like a snake when drunk. Look at him, gentlemen. He looks like a red-headed snake, sitting there, sober, before you now."

"SNAKE" THEN "DOVE."

Later Attorney Bolding depicted the erstwhile "snake" as "a dove of peace," in seeking reconciliation between himself and his wife.

Because of the startling epithets hurled back and forth by the attorneys and Mrs. Chaffin, the case attracted a large audience in the court room on the third floor of the old city hall building. Mr. Chaffin, the brunt of the verbal attacks, took it all calmly.

"All I want", he said, "is a chance to see my child sometimes. Mrs. Chaffin has sworn I never shall see Catherine, and she has kept me from seeing her."

Mrs. Chaffin had her husband arrested several times when he tried to see the girl, so often, in fact, that it is alleged she became friendly with the policeman who was called to perform his duty as an arresting officer.

The jury granted Chaffin permission to see his daughter, who was given to the wife, once a week; it reduced the alimony he had been paying from $25 a month to $15 a month; it removed his disabilities which prevented him from marrying again, and granted a total divorce.

This was the second verdict in the case, the first one, in which alimony was fixed at $25 and the child given to the mother, having been rendered in July, 1912.

MRS. J. COLTON LYNES DIED EARLY TODAY

Ill for Long Time, Succumbs at the Home of Son in Ormewood Park

Mrs. J. Colton Lynes, wife of Colonel J. Colton Lynes, died at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the residence of her son, Carlos Lynes, in Ormewood Park.

She was sixty-five years of age and had been in failing health for some time. Her death is a source of deep sorrow to all who knew her, and the sympathy of the many friends of Colonel Lynes and Carlos Lynes is extended to them, in this, the hour of their bereavement.

Mrs. Lynes was formerly Miss Pauline Michel, of Charleston, S. C. The body will be sent to Charleston, where the funeral services will take place Sunday morning at St. Mary's church. Interment will be in Magnolia cemetery.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use the Old-time Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody will Know.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—(Advt.)

ATLANTA DENTISTS HOLD MID-WINTER CLINIC

Distinguished Dental Surgeons on Program to Address Members of Society

Many visitors are in Atlanta to attend the mid-winter clinic of the Atlanta Society of Dental Surgeons, which opened Friday morning at the Ansley hotel.

After the registration and seating of delegates and the usual business preliminaries, Dr. John R. Callahan, of Cincinnati, and Dr. F. T. van Woert, of Brooklyn, read two interesting papers. Both were concerned with technical matters of interest to the dental profession only and the discussion which followed also dealt with matters of professional interest.

The first session adjourned at 12:30 o'clock to reconvene at 2 o'clock.

During the afternoon clinics will be held, and at 8 o'clock Friday night Dr. T. B. Hartsell, of Minneappolis, will deliver an illustrated lecture on the part that mouth infections play in general systemic disorders.

The discussion which will follow will be opened by Dr. George M. Niles, of Atlanta; Dr. C. W. Strickler, of Atlanta; Dr. D. D. Atkinson, of Brunswick, and Dr. R. C. Young.

Saturday morning Dr. J. H. Prothero, of Chicago, will give an illustrated lecture and from 10:30 on clinics will be held.

SLATON DID NOT PARDON MAN WHO BLEW SAFE

Will Knight's Freedom Came to Him by Operation of Parole Law

Governor Slaton Friday morning issued a requisition for Will Knight, the young man arrested in Wilmington, Del., and charged with having been a member of the gang which several days ago blew open and robbed a Milledgeville grocery firm's safe of $25,000.

Knight was recently pardoned after serving a portion of a five-year sentence for blowing the safe of the Randall Coal company in Atlanta. It was erroneously stated Thursday that he had been granted executive clemency by Governor Slaton.

In 1911, when Governor Slaton was acting governor, he refused to parole Knight, although strong pressure was brought to bear on him in Knight's behalf. Several months later Governor Brown did parole Knight, and under the law this parole carried with it a pardon in the event no complaint of a violation of the parole was made within one year after it was granted.

Governor Slaton, in pardoning Knight, simply carired out the law and the pardon was automatically issued.

Think of This

The founders of our "National Government" thought it unwise for the President of the United States, to hold office for more than two terms, eight years.

The founders of our "State Government," thought it unwise for the Governor of the State, to hold office for more than two terms, four years.

Do you think it wise for T. J. Armistead to hold office for more than TWENTY-FOUR YEARS?

Or W. H. Abbott, to stay in office for more than THIRTEEN YEARS?

Therefore vote for W. F. Wesley, for "Tax Receiver," of Fulton County, a man who has never held an office.

Three New Yorkers Coming for Stay at Atlanta Federal Pen

(By Associated Press.)

BOSTON, Mass., March 13.—Captain John A. Fish, of New York, today was sentenced to five years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for burning his yacht Senta in Edgartown harbor on October 21, 1910, in order to obtain $15,000 insurance money.

An appeal on a writ of error was taken, and this acted as a stay, but in default of security Fish was sent to jail.

In moving sentence, United States District Attorney French stated that Fish, when twenty-one years old, deserted from the United States army. At the time he was an orderly at West Point.

John J. Meyers and Archie L. Wisner were found guilty in the federal court today of using the mails to defraud by the sale of mining stocks through A. L. Wisner & Co. Wisner was sentenced to serve six years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. Meyers, a reputed millionaire, received a similar term and was fined $10,000.

FELDER TO SPEAK AT HIBERNIANS' BANQUET

DeSoto Hotel, Savannah, to Be Scene of Festivities on St. Patrick's Day

Attorney General Thomas S. Felder will be the principal speaker at the St. Patrick's day banquiet to be given by the Hibernian society at the DeSoto hotel, in Savannah, on the evening of March 17.

Some of the politicians who learned this news Friday expressed the opinion that Mr. Felder would take this occasion to fire the opening gun in his campaign for the unexpired term of the late Senator A. O. Bacon.

Mr. Felder, however, stated that he had accepted the invitation to speak at the banquet before the death of Senator Bacon and before he had considered being a senatorial candidate. He said that he would not discus politics, but would speak on "Georgia, the Empire State of the South."

$5,000 FOR DAMAGES AWARDED TO NEGRO

Lee Witt, colored, a freight hand, was awarded $5,000 damages against the Southern railway by a jury in Judge H. M. Reid's branch of the city court Friday morning.

Witt had sued for $50,000 for injuries received in a collision, due to a faulty brake, between two freight cars in the Inman yards on March 25, 1913. His left leg was broken and his hip injured. William S. Coburn, attorney, represented Witt.

WEST TO INSIST ON ADAMS' APPOINTMENT

Wants Savannah Man for Southern District Attorney

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—At a conference yesterday between Senator West and Judge Samuel Adams, of Savannah, the former reiterated his purpose to insist upon the appointment of A. Pratt Adams for United States attorney for the southern disrict of Georgia. He expects to take up the matter with the department of justice at his earliest convenience and hopes to induce the attorney general to waive the requirement that young Mr. Adams sever his connection with the law firm of Adams & Adams.

Senator West has an appointment to visit the White House next Monday and pay his repects to the president.

"It is not my purpose to discuss any official business or patronage matters with the president," said the senator. "I simply propose to make a courtesy call and to assure the president of my purpose to support his administration."

SAY EX-PRIZE FIGHTER DID NOT PAY BILL

Turbitt made bond of $100 on his own recognizance, and was given one month in which to pay the bill. This he said he would do.

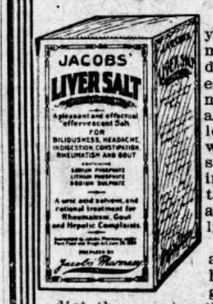
Jacobs' Liver Salt

Don't Force Your Liver to Work; When Liver Gets Lazy it Needs Only Jacobs' Liver Salt



We have progressed beyond the calomel and blue mass age. Calomel is a dangerous drug which crashes into the system with mercurial force and punches a way through the sour bile, leaving organ stuffned and weak and sometimes with serious after effects. Thinking people realize it is better to keep the liver, kidneys and bowels working regularly and normally.

One becomes constipated and bilious because all food has a perccentage of indigestible waste, the richer the diet the greater this percentage, and in time it packs and retards the eliminative proccesses of liver and kidneys. But all you need is Jacobs' Liver Salt to give a gentle flushing which loosens and washes away waste and fermentation in the natural elimination.

Jacobs' Liver Salt is the most natural liver tonic. Sodium sulphate and lithium stimulate and augment the natural digestive sulphates in the blood; instead of forcing it works naturally, gently, but promptly. If not up to the mark on arising, take Jacobs' Liver Salt and in an hour you feel splendid. Agreeable to take and never gripes. Jacob's Liver Salt is better for your liver than calomel, and if you don't agree with us after trying it, your money back at the store where you bought it. All druggists, 25c. Made and guaranteed by Jacobs' Pharmacy, Atlanta.

ALL OFFICERS RE-ELECTED IN SUMTER'S PRIMARY

Several Retain Offices in Face of Warm Opposition

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

AMERICUS, Ga., March 13—Consolidated returns this morning from yesterday's election for Sumter county officers shows the election of every official, not one chanbe being made. H. E. Allen, clerk of court; J. B. Small, tax collector, were re-elected without opposition. Sheriff Q. W. Fuller defeated J. L. Glawson, his opponent, while P. H. Williams was re-elected county treasurer and John Howell, tax receiver. Thomas Hooks and Arthur Rylander were re-elected county commissioners, the most interesting feature of the election.

Whitfield Prepares for Biggest Campaign Ever

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., March 13.—With fully thirty aspirants for county office circulating among the voters, this county is promised the biggest political campaign in its history this year.

Yesterday afternoon M. W. Head and Joe Loner made formal announcement of their candidacy, the former offering for tax receiver and the latter for treasurer. Now that they have broken the ice, lively developments are expected within the next few weeks. While these are all who have published formal announcements, it is only a matter of time before the following are in the lineup:

For sheriff S. C. Britton, I. S. Anderson, J. H. Gilbert, Charley Connally, William Miller, Felix Vining; for tax receiver, M. W. Head, J. R. Palmer, W. A. Broadrick, A. J. Thomason; for tax collector, J. W. Brooker, H. D. Keith, J. T. Nichols; for clerk, W. M. Sapp, John Field.

There are fully a dozen out for treasurer, and the races for representative, county school superintendent, coroner and surveyor have not yet developed.

Race for Treasurer Most Lively in Clay County

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

FORT GAINES, Ga., March 13.—The Clay county primary will be held on April 1. The field is well filled with office seekers and especially for the office of treasurer where seven men are out for the job, among them being M. C. Gay, mayor of Fort Gaines, J. C. Simpson, Toliver Davis, R. C. Plowden, tax colector, B. F. Pearce, county registrar, John C. McLendon and Chart Best. This race is a very lively one, owing to the fact that one of the candidates, Mr. John C. McLendon, is offering to give to the county his fees, which will amount to about a thousand dollars a year, if elected. This proposition was submitted to the voters during the primary in 1912 which was overwhelmingly defeated.

The race for clerk of the superior court is being contested by J. J. Chitty, the present incumbent, and W. T. Davis, of Bluffton. In the race for sheriff are E. J. Hobbs and L. E. Lindsey, both of Fort Gaines. Tax Receiver E. S. Jones is running for tax collector and is being opposed by A. J. Richardson. In the race for receiver are J. E. Graham and J. D. Tillman.

Johnson Primary Held; Quiet Campaign Ends

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga., March 13.—In the white primary held here yesterday for the nomination of county officers, W. D. Rowland, the present sheriff, led the ticket for re-election, defeating J. L. Davis by 650 votes. B. H. Moye was nominated for solicitor of the city court without opposition, and J. T. Snell for clerk of court, also without opposition. Joby Jones made a successful race for county treasurer. C. A. Smith was defeated by only a few votes for tax collector, and N. B. Miller was easily re-elected. J. Wesley Meadows won by a handsome majority over two opponents for coroner.

This was one of the quietest campaigns in the history of Johnson county.

W. M. Johnson in Race Against Robert McMillan

GAINESVILLE, Ga., March 13.—William M. Johnson, a Gainesville attorney and a native of Hall county, has announced his candidacy for the office of solicitor general against Robert McMillan, the present incumbent. Mr. McMillan has held this office for four years.

Cook Who Posed as Woman of Wealth Ends Life by Poison

Between Meals She Entertained at Fine Hotels and Tried to Buy Music School

(By Associated Press.)

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 13.—Dividing her time between cooking at a fashionable apartment house, giving luncheons at a leading hotel on her afternoons off and trying to buy a music school, a woman who asserted she was Madame Arriola, wife of a prominent San Francisco musician, ended several weeks of deception here by committing suicide.

Instead of being Mme. Arriola she was a former cook in that family, according to the police, who say that a young woman from San Francisco recognized her about the time papers had been drawn for the purchase of the Arizona school of music.

In a dying statement she told the police her maiden name was Lillian May Biechel and that she came from a wealthy Pittsburg family. She swallowed poison last night while at a private party and died at a hospital.

On taking a position as cook here, it is said, she represented herself to outsiders as a chaperon for a party of young women.

The police say the San Francisco woman, who recognized the masquerader as the former Arriola servant, told them of a similar adventure in San Francisco. According to this story the dead woman posed as Mme. Arriola when her mistress was out of the city, and in company with other servants gave a dinner at one of the leading hotels there.

Waited Nine Years For Husband's Recovery, Then Annuls Marriage

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—Waiting nine years for her husband to demonstrate some sign of recovery, Mrs. Adelaide Murphy Breckenridge, wife of John C. Breckenridge, now in a Paris sanitarium, has obtained annulment of her marriage at Salinas, Cal.

Attorneys for Mrs. Breckenridge produced affidavits from French alienists alleging that her husband's mind was beyond hope of recovery. She was awarded the custody of their nine-year-old son.

The elopement of the couple created a stir ten years ago. Mrs. Breckenridge was the daughter of Samuel C. Murphy, a millionaire banker of this city.

Breckenridge's eccentricity is said to have developed during the honeymoon and a trip around the world failed to restore his health. In Paris he was seized with an attack of vertigo and fell from the second-story of a hotel. He has been an inmate of a hospital ever since.

Bone Cut from Arms And Legs of Woman Is Used to Cure Spine

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—An operation by which fragments of bone cut from a young woman's arms and legs were substituted for faulty structure in her spine was declared by surgeons who performed the experiment to have proved successful.

The woman was brought from Wilmington, Del., to a hospital here suffering from a spinal disorder which prevented her from holding her head erect. After five weeks' treatment, during which the faulty bone and tissue was cut away and gradually subsituted with fragments cut from other parts of the body, the patient was in condition to be removed to her home and last night it was reported a complete cure had been effected.

Lyons Planter, Dragged Head Downward Over Field by Mule, Is Dead

LYONS, Ga., March 13.—Charley Gay, who lived on his brother's plantation here, died yesterday as a result of being dragged head downward over a field by a runaway mule.

Gay's feet became entangle in the harness of the mule that he had attempted to ride, when the animal jolted him from its back. The mule ran for some distance, Gay's head hitting the ground at every jump.

WESTINGHOUSE BUSINESS NOT HALTED BY HIS DEATH

Famous Inventor Provided in Will for Operation of Interests by Trusteeship

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—George Westinghouse, the famous engineer and inventor who died here yesterday of heart disease, provided in his will for the continuation of his large business interests under a trusteeship.

It was officially stated today that his death will not cause any change of policy or operation in connection with any of the Westinghouse industries. A plan, which long ago he carefully thought out for their continuance and direction, goes immediately into effect.

The man chosen to carry out this work are his brother, Henry Herman Westinghouse, who is president of the American Brake company and vice president and general manager of the Westinghouse Air Brake company; Charles A. Terry, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, and W. D. Updegraff, director of the Westinghouse Air Brake company.

To this trusteeship will go the voting power in all the corporations in which George Westinghouse was interested here and abroad. The individual wealth and holdings of Mr. Westinghouse have been estimated at more than $50,000,000.

Mr. Westinghouse, who was in his sixty-eighth year, will be buried Saturday in Woodlawn cemetery, this city.

Thousands of Workmen Pay Tribute to Inventor

(By Associated Press.)

PITTSBURG, March 13.—Twenty-five thousand men are idle today in the Turtle creek valley out of respect to the late George Westinghouse. He was a factor in the industries of that section which were today ordered closed until after Mr. Westinghouse's funeral.

Red Men to Meet

WEST POINT, Ga., March 13.—Saturday, March 14, the fourteenth order of Red Men will hold their convention at Langdale. This promises to be the best district meeting ever held in Alabama. There will be many prominent Red Men here from throughout the state and the meeting will be both useful and instructive. Many state great council officials will be present.

MRS. W. W. LAKE

Tells Others How to Get Strong and Well.

Mrs. W. W. Lake, of Aberdeen, Miss., says: "The grippe had left me in a weak, run-down condition from which I suffered for some time. I tried different remedies but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Mrs. Lake's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from cods' livers—combined with the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol, and her cough disappeared as a natural result.

We guarantee that Vinol will do all we claim and will pay back your money if Vinol does not satisfy you. Edmondson Drug Co., 11 N. Broad St. and 106 N. Pryor St., Atlanta, Ga.

One of The Brightest Spots In The Store Tomorrow Will Be

The Junior Department (Third Floor)

Made so by the splendid array of spring apparal that we have gathered for misses and children. It has been said that this season's styles for the young are the smartest yet evolved.

The suits, the dresses, the coats, the hats here would seem to bear this out.

Certainly you will see here the styles at their best! We went directly to the sources of styles, to those makers who lead, who consider children's fashions as seriously as others consider the grown-ups. And the results tell in---

Party Frocks for Juniors

Of dainty crepes, of nets and laces, of taffetas, of crepes de chine.

Fluffy, airy, frilly—bodices are draped loosely and charmingly and are touched with ribbons and bows and jewels—skirts are tiered, are ruffled, are draped over the hips into the most delightful lines; colorings are those of a May morning and white—we can but urge you to see them. Priced from $10.00 to $30.00.

With these are the dancing and party frocks for the younger girls; sizes 6 to 14 years; priced from $5.00 to $20.00.

Spring Coats for Girls

Sizes 2 to 6 years and 6 to 14 years.

The variety is as impressive as the newness of the styles.

Choose from shepherd checks, serges, wool failles, light-weight mixture weaves, taffetas, pongees, and corded weaves. Often they will be belted, the belt itself a thing of beauty, ending in a big butterfly bow or in streamers. Sleeves may be large and kimono-esque or they may be set in drop shoulders, forming a little yoke to the coat.

And the greatest service comes from selecting a spring coat early in the season. Prices go from $5.00 to $15.00.

The remaining few of a lot of slightly soiled middy blouses, white, trimmed with navy and red bands that were $1.50 will go tomorrow at $1.00. Yours may be either a low neck and short sleeve or high neck and long sleeve style.

Children's New Undermuslins

We have planned for the children in a way calculated to help and please mothers. Here—

Gowns in crepe and nainsook, slip-over and open front styles; so many styles that the prices go from 50c for the plain and serviceable to the lacy ones at $2.00.

Drawers, knickerbockers, straight and gored style, that fit snugly in at the waist. Priced at 10c to $1.50 a pair.

Camisoles, dainty and pretty and lacy, at 50c to $1.

Princess Slips, sizes 2 to 6 years and 6 to 18 years; plain and trimmed with laces and embroideries; 50c to $3.00.

Skirts of muslin and nainsook; hemmed ruffles or elaborate with laces and embroideries; 50c to $5.

Little Buster's New Suit

The Junior Department is not for girls alone—the little man has been thought of just as carefully.

So here are the suits for him when he plays; when he is on his good behavior.

Sizes 1 to 7 years

Russian suits, middy suits, sailor blouse suits, Dombey suits with colored pants and white coats—the collar matches the pants. Then there are the Pickwick suits, all in one. Mothers tell us they are "most sensible." Choose from galateas that will never fade; from percales, linens and repps.

Aid for the hospital is aid for humanity.

Tennessee may well say that, officially, it is a long time between drinks.

The rush for grand opera tickets will be as nothing as compared to that for baseball.

Distributing Land in Mexico.

There is a rough and ready justice in the program of the "Constitutionalists" in northern Mexico to distribute public lands among the soldiers of the present revolution, the veterans of the Madero cause and the widows and orphans of the two revolts. In a country of orderly, righteous government, such a plan could scarcely be contemplated, but in Mexico it strikes toward an underlying and, perhaps, the innermost cause of the republic's ceaseless turmoil.

Mexico is rebellious, partly because of ruthless adventurers and the volatile character of illiterate thousands, but chiefly, if we are to believe careful students, because of certain pressing economic problems. The one great wish of its masses, in so far as they can interpret their own minds and needs, is the right to own a bit of land on which to make a fair and peaceful living. The absorption of little farms into vast estates owned by a few men and the restriction of thousands of acres from individual enterprise and opportunity is one of the conditions that has given rise to a long succession of wars.

The main pledge and purpose of the Madero administration was to remedy this state of affairs. It was on this principle that Madero loosed the revolution which bore him to short-lived power. At the time of his assassination by agents of Huerta he was exerting himself to secure land-reform legislation. Huerta is indentified, in Mexican thought, with the opponents of such reform; and naturally his regime has found little popular support.

The leaders of the present revolution have done much to shake confidence in their wisdom and sincerity, but it cannot be denied that they show shrewd sense in applying practically and definitely the principle of land readjustment in the conquered country to their cause and toward winning them sympathy and recruits in other parts of Mexico.

The sporting editor from now on will fulfil any man's ideal of a busy person.

The dollars will take care of themselves regardless of who takes care of the pennies.

Many a man will complain because of his wife's fondness of grand opera only to go himself and enjoy it.

The Georgia Congress of Mothers.

The meeting in Atlanta next Saturday of the Georgia branch of the National Congress of Mothers will be an event of peculiar interest to everyone who appreciates the range and the importance of child-welfare work.

The twentieth century has been called the era of the child. Certainly there were never before so many earnest and helpful efforts to conserve children's health, to improve their environment and education, to take barriers from their path and to give them one and all a freer opportunity to grow up into useful men and women.

It is the realization of the child's social significance that has brought child-labor reforms, that has established free kindergartens and playgrounds, that has instituted systems of medical examination in public schools, urged city governments to closer inspection of the public milk supply, turned scientists and teachers to fresh research in all aspects of child life and awakened in the minds of millions of mothers a deeper sense of responsibility.

The good results of this interest and endeavor are beyond reckoning. The greatest problems of human society are not to be solved in legislative halls but in nurseries and about the fireside, not through statutes and governments but through the quiet, tender service of the home.

It is upon this simple truth that the National Congress of Mothers rests its work and faith. The Georgia branch of this organization has a competent and devoted membership. It is seeking to meet common, practical needs in a practical manner. It is doing much for the good of Georgia. Its Atlanta convention, we trust, will be filled with encouragement and with useful plans for the future.

The old fashioned celebrity who went on the lecture platform nowadays poses for the movies.

President Wilson and Governor Blease both deliver their messages in person, but there the resemblance stops.

Already the Mexican rebels are dividing out the land. The real estate agents down there will now have a chance.

Anyway, the man who is unable to get credit doesn't have to dodge up an alley when he sees a bill collector coming.

President Wilson's Self-Mastery.

President Wilson's unruffled self-control is one of the strongest sinews of his administration. Amid all the stress of his first year in the White House, he has never once lost his temper. He has encountered sharp issues in his own party in Congress and peculiarly trying situations in the government's foreign affairs, his tasks have been unrelenting and at times his opponents have been exasperatingly unfair, but he has gone his way with unbending patience and composure.

This achievement is the more remarkable when we think of the president's intense earnestness of character. He is all compact of mental and moral energy. His convictions are profound and dynamic. He is bent upon definite results, and with all his intellectual breadth there is much of the crusader's zeal in his heart. His impulse to act is no less pronounced than his inclination to measure and reflect. His equanimity has not been that easygoing, good-nature or of the so-called judical temperament; it has been that of wonderful self-mastery.

To this rare virtue we must ascribe not only much of the success of the Wilson administration, but also much of the poise and clarity that now possess the public mind. "It is a fact," says the Boston Globe, "that when we have an impatient or intemperate tenant in the White House, the whole American people manifest a like tendency; and it is also true that if the head of the nation is patient, tolerant, forbearing, cool, the mass of the people partake of his disposition."

"What are the effects plainly to be seen of Mr. Wilson's bearing? The calamity howler of the old days has almost completely disappeared from public view. The people are readily inclined to accept the word of the president on public matters and are standing with him. We find nowhere a snarling disposition, and foreign nations in their attitude toward us are reflecting back Mr. Wilson's good temper. Conduct is contagious."

The man of true patience and composure is a man of vigor and deep impulse. It is power that gives meaning to control and control that gives meaning to power. In his happy possession of both qualities lies very largely the secret of the Wilson leadership.

The post card is first aid to the unimaginative.

The last person a man usually learns to know is himself.

It is just a question of time before the weather man may be relieved of his duty of looking out for the approach of cold weather.

Colonel Roosevelt will return to America to find that the country is waxnig fat over the tariff and other Wilson accomplishments.

Certain American newspapers seem to be more alarmed about the way President Wilson is handling the Mexican situation than Europe itself.

Georgia Apples.

In planning a state convention of Georgians who are interested in apple growing, the Cornelia chamber of commerce has undertaken a timely and useful enterprise. Such a meeting will bring encouragement to those who are already engaged in this field of horticulture and will doubtless attract new investors. It will make for organization and effective publicity in one of the youngest yet most important of our industries.

Competent students agree that the climate and soil of north Georgia are peculiarly well suited to apple culture, a judgment strikingly borne out by the fact that exhibits from the orchards of that region have taken first prizes at national expositions in which every fruit-growing state of the Union was represented. Until years comparatively recent, however, there was no considerable effort to develop the apple-growing possibilities of those counties. Here and there, to be sure, orchard ventures were promoted and were rewarded with high success. But serious, widespread interest in that field began only some five or ten years ago. There are thus almost unlimited opportunities ahead of the apple industry in Georgia.

The location of this State with reference to the great markets of the east assures a steady sale of its fruit, and the fact that the production of apples in the United States is proportionately far less than a few decades ago makes a profitable market certain. Every circumstance is favorable for such a convention as the Cornelia Chamber of Commerce proposes, and Cornelia, situated in the midst of orchards, is the logical meeting place.

The State Chamber of Commerce has very properly lent its assistance. The enterprise is one that concerns all Georgia; due development of the State's resources for apple growing will mean millions of new wealth and the enrichment of business life.

Handsome isn't always as handsome as he thinks he is.

If a woman has no other excuse she marries a man to reform him.

Every woman needs a pocketbook in which to carry her powder rag.

A woman seldom nags her husband unless he is that kind of a husband.

When it comes to marrying, the one thing a girl doesn't think she needs is advice.

Generally speaking, he who would be a popular entertainer should cut out lectures. Women do not care for them, and married men get more than they need right at home.

The Conning Tower

BY FRANKLIN P. ADAMS.

Song: "A British Suff."
MUSIC BY SULLIVAN.

A British suff is a soaring soul,
As smooth as an Irish burr!
Her energetic fist should be ready to resist
A Parliamentary slur.
Her word should burn and her speech should sting,
Her foot should kick and her voice should ring,
Her hand should punch what she fails to like,
And her innards should be ready for a hunger-strike.

Most of the talk last night was condemnatory of the suffs. "Property destruction, when the loss can be repaired," the most liberal said, "isn't so bad; but destruction of a work of art is unforgivable." Yet all of yesterday afternoon's headlines emphasized the $225,000. Which—who knows?—may have been Miss Richardson's idea.

"BUSINESS IS BUSINESS."
(From the ad. of a New York leather house.)

In buying leather it often happens that what at the start appears to be very low-priced stock, in the end, after the stock is cut and made up, the expected results are found to be quite the reverse. This may be due to various reasons—too much waste in cutting, poor finish, ununiform shades and weights, and for lots of other reasons. We maintain that owing to the particular and uniform selection of our stock for color, weight, finish and size, our leather at all times produces the most satisfactory results, not only for reason of quality, but for reason of economy as well.

Let us demonstrate our claims by ordering a small sample, which we are glad to submit at our expense.

CONTRIBUTORY MODESTY.

I shot some verses on to "Puck,"
But such is my accursed luck,
A few weeks later, to no avail
I found them in my morning mail.

I tried some others—same old stall—

You must have torn it into bits.

An Alabama View Of the Frank Trial

(Birmingham News.)

The Atlanta Journal, one of the fairest among southern newspapers, comes out boldly in favor of a new trial for Leo Frank, the alleged slayer of Mary Phagan, basing its position upon the claim that Frank, though he may be guilty, has not had a fair trial.

When it is remembered that the most intense feeling has existed in Atlanta against Leo Frank, public passion being so stirred at times that it was deemed expedient to have military companies in readiness to suppress rioting, it will be seen that The Atlanta Journal has done a courageous thing, and its sincerity cannot be questioned. Had it been disposed to follow the trend of public sentiment, or "play to the galleries," as the saying goes, it would have opposed the accused man rather than placed itself in a position of antagonism to public sentiment by demanding a new trial.

In discussing the case at great length, The Journal says truly: "It is our duty to help enforce the laws and punish crime, but it is a far more solemn duty to know with reasonable certainty at least that men accused of crime are guilty before they are punished."

Developments in the case have been followed closely by the people of Birmingham, and the announcement that a paper as influential and as well informed as The Atlanta Journal is advocating a new trial for the convicted man will be read with great interest. Its confession of the sway public passion held over the trial, and its frank acknowledgement that the circumstances were such that a fair verdict was impossible, have the ring of sincerity and will, no doubt, have a marked tendency to sober the people of Atlanta and arouse in their minds a new sense of the dignity, and the vital importance, of administering the law with exactness.

The Texas Rangers

THE Rangers have cut a big figure in Texas history ever since Sam Houston and his compatriots seceded from Mexico and set up a republic of their own. The United States government organized seventeen companies of Rangers during the war of 1812 and they were made a part of the regular army, being mustered out after Andrew Jackson's victory at New Orleans ended hostilities. When the Black Hawk war broke out in 1835 the Rangers were called into being again. Each man furnished his own horse, arms and equipment and was paid $1 a day. Later the battalion became a regiment of dragoons, which was later brought into the regular army as the First cavalry.

The Rangers had won a reputation as the mounted soldiers of Texas when the Mexican war began and large numbers were mustered into the service. These hard riders and dead shots were the terrors of the Mexicans.

After that war of the frontier states discontinued their companies, but Texas made them a regular part of the state force. They are the mounted police of the border and in addition to their military authority are invested also with the civil powers of a marshal or sheriff. It is an organization something like the Canadian mounted police, but possessing broader powers.

In the early days the Ranger was often policeman, jury, judge and executioner. They were the principal protection against horse thieves, train robbers and cattle rustlers. And in the period succeeding the Civil war they won a reputation as Indian fighters as well as the terror of "greasers" and robbers.

N. A. Jennings, who was a Ranger in the seventies, tells of his first sight of the famous troopers:

"Looking up the street, I saw a troop of horsemen coming toward me. For a moment I thought they were cowboys. But there were forty-two of them, and at their head rode a man who was surely not a cowboy, whatever the others might be. Their leader (McNelly) was rather under the average height and slimly built, but he sat so erect in the saddle and had such an air of command that he seemed like a cavalry officer at the head of a company of soldiers. But it was easy to see these men were not soldiers. They were heavily armed, to be sure, but they wore no uniforms, and were nearly all beardless youths. The leader himself seemed not more than thirty years of age, although he wore a heavy dark brown mustache and 'goatee,' which, at first glance, made him look slightly older. They were McNelly's famous Rangers on their way down the Rio Grande.

"I had pictured them as bearded ruffians (going about with bowie knives in their teeth, I half believed), but here they were a lot of boys of my own age, and led by a captain not much older."

"Where are we going?" was the question Jennings asked a fellow-Ranger as they started out on their first expedition.

"Quien sabe!" he answered. "We never know where we are going until we get there."

In the seventies there were six Ranger troops in Texas, five under general command of Major Jones—one to repel Indian invasion from New Mexico, two operating over the edge of the Staked Plains in the "Panhandle" and the others covering the Mexicon border along the Rio Grande. Captain L. H. McNelly, who had been a daring young Confederate officer, commanded an independent troop, known as "Company A, Frontiersmen," which protected a strip along the Rio Grande and had power to make arrests anywhere in the state west of the Colorado river. It was the Rangers who drove out the desperadoes who terrorized whole counties in the old days, even choosing their own men as sheriffs and other officers and defied the United States authorities, but the Rangers "got" them. No "red tape" hampered the Rangers. They did not wait for warrants to make arrests but started right after a lawbreaker and rode him down.

"Got the Drop" On Him.

"When a Ranger wanted to arrest a man," says Jennings, "his first action was to draw his six-shooter and 'get the drop' on his prospective prisoner. It was a simple matter to take him into custody after that, for no matter how desperate the man might be he would not take the chances of arrest when he was looking into the muzzle of a loaded revolver, with a Ranger's finger playing nervously around the trigger thereof."

Battles were frequent on the frontier. Jennings tells of a fight with Mexican cattle raiders in which Lieutenant Wright, with one shot from his revolver, killed two men who were riding the same horse. That was the fight in which Espinoso, the Mexican bandit, fought a duel with McNelly, in which the captain shot him dead through the head. The Rangers recovered 265 stolen cattle after the fight and took the bodies of thirteen dead Mexicans to Brownsville, where they were laid out in the plaza for hundreds of Texans and Mexicans to gaze upon. Sometimes the Rangers in these battles were outnumbered five to one, but generally came off victorious.

At one time in 1875 the Rangers had 3,000 names on their "outlaw list" and their good work in driving out desperadoes and protecting life and property in the western counties is history in which Texans are proud.

Captain W. J. Maltby, known as "Captain Jeff," who was commander of Company E, Frontier Battalion Texas Rangers, in his reminiscences tells some interesting stories of the Texas Rangers who then were active in the Mexican war in 1846-47.

"Fighting Jack" Hays was then the captain of the first company of Texas Rangers that was armed with Colt's five-shooters and cap and ball pistols. In 1846, with his troop, he joined General Zachary Taylor on the Rio Grande. Taylor made Hays' company his scouts. Before the battle of Palo Alto Taylor sent Hays out to reconnoitre the Mexicans' position. Hays dashed into the enemy's lines and before he had a chance to retreat a large force of Mexican cavalry had cut them off.

It has never before been recorded that Hays said a prayer. At that time, however, in an imploring voice, he cried out: "Be on our side if you can, but if you can't for God's sake don't be on theirs. Stand off on those hills and look and you'll see the damnedest fight you ever saw in your life." Instead of saying "Amen!" he said "Charge!" The Rangers burst their way through the Mexican lines like a hurricane through a canebrake. Only three men were killed and four injured.

Captain William (alias "Big Foot" Wallace) was the most famous of the Rangers' Indian fighters. He was one of the Mier prisoners who were captured by Santa Anna, who ordered a majority of them shot. He had black and white beans (mostly black) put in a box. The prisoner who drew a black bean was doomed. But Wallace was lucky enough to draw a white bean and his life was saved. Wallace became one of the most daring soldiers in the Mexican war.

Captain John S. (Rip) Ford went through the battles of the Mexican war of 1846 and 1847 and became one of the foremost public men of Texas. General Henry McCullough was another brilliant among the early Rangers.

Captain "Jeff" Maltby tells a story about his meeting in Texas before the Civil war with Sol B. Davis, of Baltimore, a brother of Jefferson Davis, who was then secretary of war. It was in the Wichita mountains, which were at that time rapidly becoming filled with Indians. Davis carried with him an order from the secretary of war to any commanding officer to give him any government property and any number of soldiers as an escort. Davis had just come from Fort Arbuckle, where he had obtained a lieutenant and twenty soldiers for an escort, two mule teams, wagons, tents and other accessories.

His own private traveling equipage consisted of a fine ambulance, with a $500 pair of mules to draw it, a man to drive, a saddle horse and saddle mule, negro cook, all kinds of up-to-date firearms, tobacco, pipes and whisky galore.

One day Davis and several others were riding about four miles from camp when they saw a bunch of buffalo, which consisted mostly of two-year-old heifers. Davis fastened his rifle to his saddle horn, intending to use only his six-shooter. The men charged into the herd, when suddenly Davis' horse threw him. The animal fairly flew after the rider had been gotten out of the way. The horse was stopped in its mad course by a number of Indians who appeared on the horizon.

As quickly as possible Davis was lifted on to the back of another horse in front of one of the other men and the dash was made for the camp.

Summing up the casualties of the day, the men found that they had secured no meat and had lost Davis' horse, saddle, bridle, gun and powder flask. Had the Indians overtaken the party they would never have lived to tell the tale. But Davis had a good story to tell when he got back to Baltimore.—Baltimore Sun.

FRIDAY, THE THIRTEENTH
By Frederic J. Haskin

Friday is a bad day. Thirteen is an unlucky number. There is no worse combination for mortal to face than Friday, the Thirteenth. Beside the appalling tragedy of such a day, the "evil eye," spells, charms and ill omens fade into meaningless twilight of impotence. Crossed fingers ward off "evil eye," muttered words frighten ghosts and break charms. Amulets guard against spells and sprites. Bits of bright verse muttered rapidly backwards rob ill omens of their power. But nothing suffices to break the black magic of Friday, the Thirteenth.

There are three such days in the present year. This can happen only when the first days of February, March and November fall on Sunday. These are said to be President Wilson's lucky days; but think of the innumerable multitude that must somehow shudder through 1914 despite its triple king-sign of bad luck. Almost all the world is agreed that Friday is enough without its coincidence with thirteen. This combination thrills the steadiest heart with apprehension, drear and dreadful.

* * *

Mariners will not sail from port on Friday. Many a golden tide has slipped away and favorable breeze died down, while urgent ships laid by waiting for Saturday to dawn. Friday's bad reputation upon the land, if anything, is surpassed upon the sea. To sail upon Friday is to violate the awful mysterious character of this day. To sail on Friday the Thirteenth is wanton suicide.

* * *

Lord Byron feared Friday. Yet, he sailed against his better judgment upon this day for Greece, where he fell, in his thirty-sixth year, one of the first victims to Grecian independence. There are things, signs, occurrences, however, which have led thoughtful Americans to feel that Friday is the lucky day of this country. Columbus sailed on his quest of the Indies on Friday and first sighted land upon that day. The Pilgrims landed on Friday, and, further, Friday was the birthday of George Washington.

It is clear why Friday, named as the day of the Germanic goddess of love, should be regarded with shuddering suspicion. Why thirteen should be unlucky is less clear. Odd numbers are generally considered lucky. Toasts are drunk in odd numbers. A royal salute consists of thrice seven, twenty-one guns. Three, five, seven and nine are numbers to conjure with, and philosophers have valued them highly. Thirteen, on the other hand, is the black sheep of the whole numeral family. It is so bad that when thirteen people meet in a room, it is generally expected that one of the number will die before the year is out. Thirteen is a number upon which it is not wise to take any risks.

Shamed, intimidated and made untruthful witnesses by deference to science—the leading superstition of the present age—we strive to give no outward sign of our trepidation when black cats cross our paths. All of us admit that supstition exists no more as far as our particular cases of enlightenment are concerned. Notwithstanding these admissions, a newcomer would not have to look around long in the world before venturing to doubt a little the modern boast of conquered superstition.

* * *

Talking with the dead, foretelling by cards, straws, crystals and trances; slipping in and out of bodies; ecstatic prophecy, casting horoscopes, and inspecting the future in a mirror still flourish by the side of our more modern superstitions about wireless telegraphy, anesthesia, radium, roetengen rays and bacteria.

"New thought" and "higher criticism" are leading one another a merry competition, with odds greatly in favor of "new thought," as it requires far less tedious analysis to thoroughly comprehend. In the Middle Ages Cabalists were the prominent "new thoughters." They believed that by purifying themselves through fasting, celibacy and nature study, they could reach a point of perfection where they would be able to marry aerial sylphs—to their own and the sylphs' salvation. Then, as now, the orthodox assiduously burned the cabalist, wherever he could find him. Today our combustion is probably less rapid in its work, but it is none the less sure. There are many modern cabalists who are wooing, winning and wedding aerial sylphs.

Humanity has made serious work with guessing about its welfare. It has not stopped short with Friday and Thirteen. Cain's birthday, the first Monday in April; the anniversary of the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, the second Monday in August, and December 31, when Judas hanged himself, are considered days of ill omen. August 10, December and April 6 are perilous to those who over-indulge themselves in food and drink. May 3, Dismal day, is a bad time. In short, so thoroughly has the work of spying out bad, unlucky, dangerous days been done that two or more reasons have been found why every one of the 365 days is decidedly venturesome to live through.

* * *

Satan has always been a fruitful superstitious study in one guise or another. Many of his most interesting sayings and doings were carefully collected and annotated in large demonologies by folk of the Middle Ages. Data about him is very rich. Nevertheless, on account of its numerous contradictory statements, he remains a nebulous being. We know from the Magyars that his grandmother is exactly 777 years old, and that she remains at this age. There, also, is trustworthy testimony that the devil is black, though the tribes of Africa insist that he is white. We also know that he hates dried peas in Japan, which are used to keep him at a distance. The "devil chase" happens occasionally even in these United States, when open-air congregations, infuriated at his wiles, hunt him in the adjoining fields and finally "treer" him. The Russian will not look at a mirror at night, fearful lest Satan should appear. And the natives of Cape Coast Town chase him out with great ceremony once a year toward the end of August. It is well to know that they employ clubs on this occasion.

Mortals have not only the devil and unlucky days to do battle with, but also have the planets to worry them. If their planets are inauspicious, all which they can do will not aid them in finding happiness. In the contrary case, fortune is theirs. Goethe was born on August 28, 1749, at midday, on the stroke of twelve. The sun stood in the sign of the Virgin; Jupiter and Venus were on friendly terms; Mercury was not hostile, and Saturn and Mars were indifferent. Thus, he could not have helped his wonderful career, even had he willed to be a failure. The planets were on his side.

As example of the complicated functions of the planets, Venus presides over chariots, silver mines, elephants and bridegrooms; horses and rich men; perfumed paste, lotus flowers and conch shells; flowers, diamonds and young women, and over persons who eat sweetmeats.

A few other facts. If the moon is the color of a parrot's eye there will be rain. Smoke follows handsome people. According to the Mandan Indians, the northern lights are occasioned by a large assembly of warriors and medicine men who are boiling their prisoners and slain enemies in great cauldrons. These lights are a presage of war, and are said to be continually visible from the southern banks of the Rio Grande. The Dane says that the moon is a cheese made of the milk of the milky way; while the Alaskan holds that the moon is a mere hole through which the light shines from a land where there are inexhaustible stores of game.

Lastly, a word of advice to those who would win much. After seeing the new moon, kiss the first person you meet, and you will get whatever you wish. So runs the lore of those who dread Friday, the Thirteenth.

SCIENTIST AND ENGINE BUILDER TO LECTURE

Professor Fullam Will Talk on the Recent Rise of the Steam Engine

Saturday night at 8:30 Prof. M. Thomas Fullam, master engine builder and scientist, will give an illustrated lecture at the Baptist Tabernacle. The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Technological High school, and the public is cordially invited to be present.

Prof. Fullam will bring with him 120 slides, illustrating his lecture on the recent rise of the steam engine. The address will be given in a non-technical language and Prof. Fullam will discuss freely the recent rise of the steam engine, showing how the recent railroad progress was made possible.

Prof. Fullam is a master engine builder and a scientist of no little repute. A treat is therefore in store for those that attend this lecture tomorrow night. Twenty-five cents will be charged as an admission price to help defray the expense.

Don't Grow Bald

It's Quite Needless. Nourish the Hair Roots—Remove Dandruff —Use Parisian Sage—

If your hair is getting thin, losing color, or has that matted, lifeless and scraggy appearance, the reason is evident—dandruff and failure to keep the hair roots properly nourished. These are the main causes of baldness or dry, brittle and unsightly hair.

Parisian Sage applied daily for a week and then occasionally, is all that is needed. It is a scientific preparation that supplies hair needs. It gets to the hair roots, nourishes them, and furnishes the elements necessary to make it grow. It removes dandruff with one application; almost immediately stops falling hair and itching head; cleanses, cools and invigorates the scalp. Equally good for men, women or children—everyone needs it.

Parisian Sage not only saves the hair but beautifies it. Thin, dull, stringy hair is made soft, abundant and radiant with life.

This delightful and refreshing hair tonic can be had at any drug or toilet counter in 50-cent bottles only. Jacobs' Pharmacy always sells Parsian Sage with agreement to refund the money if you are not satisfied.

Get a bottle at once—use it every day for a week and you will be surprised with the result. Delighted users say Parisian Sage is the best and most invigorating hair tonic made.—(Advt.)

Mrs. Rice Entertains At Luncheon

Mrs. Charles Rice entertained at a spend-the-day party and luncheon Friday at her home on West Peachtree street in honor of Mrs. Walter Jones, of Athens, who is her guest for the week end.

A plateau of yellow jonquils fringed with purple hyacinths formed the centerpiece, and crystal vases placed at intervals on the beautifully appointed table held a graceful arrangement of the same spring flowers.

Mrs. Rice's guests included a number of friends from out of town, who motored over for the day. Among these present were Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Shephard W. Foster, Mrs. J. O. Wynn, Mrs. Richard P. Brooks, of Forsyth, Mrs. W. T. Roberts, of Fairburn, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Richard Courts, Mrs. Asa Smith, Mrs. Charles V. Le Craw, Mrs. A. O. Harper, of Athens, and Mrs. Eula Griffin.

Luncheon at Joyeuse

Mrs. John King Ottley entertained at luncheon Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Mary Howry, of Washington, D. C., who is spending several days with Mrs. Ottley en route home from a recent visit in Jacksonville, Fla.

"Joyeuse," the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Ottley on Peachtree road, was bright with fragrant spring blossoms and in the dining room the table was adorned wtih golden daffodils and hyacinths. The place cards were hand painted in flower design.

Twelve guests were invited to meet Miss Howry.

Are You Graceful? Study Yourself

BY BETTINA VAN NESS.

Let us consider where you fall short of your ideal of grace and charm. Call our friend, the mirror, into the consultation, and examine yourself as dispassionately as though you were a bisque figure in a china shop. Draw up a chair before its truthful reflection, and seat yourself. Notice whether you sit down heavily; whether you unconsciously grasp the arms of the chair and lower yourself; whether you flop down quickly as if to get it over; or whether you slowly unbend and relax and sink gracefully back. Quite likely the latter achievement is beyond you, as yet, if you have been too busy a woman to give much thought to your own attractiveness hitherto.

Seat yourself again, watching for defects; again, endeavoring to overcome any specific awkwardness or stiffness you have noticed; once again. Watch position of arms, hands, waist, knees and feet, and correct what seems to you unbeautiful.

Next, sitting quietly, observe the line of your figure. Is it graceful, or stiff and angular? Try first one position and another, until you have discovered what lines of the body suggest grace and what do not.

Ten minutes of this analysis will prove a liberal education in attitude, but let me add a word or two of advice.

In sitting, the body should be well back in the chair. If the muscles are well trained, the spine should not quite touch the chair; if they lack training, as is apt to be the case, sit so that the end of the spine is against the back of the chair at its joining with the seat, says the Mother's Magazine for March. You can then lean gracefully against the back of the chair without spoiling the lines of the body. Never slide down in the chair—no matter how comfortable the attitude may seem to you.

Next, look to the position of your legs. Are they crossed? Oh, yes, of course I know that the ultra-smart set are making fashionable a pronounced freedom of attitude. But crossed legs are not at all pretty, as your mirror will tell you when you critically examine the lines they produce, and it may not be amiss to add that physicians say, through the pressure of veins and arteries which results, appendicitis and rheumatism quite frequently follow in their train.

If your feet are wound ingeniously around the leg of your chair or each other, or are tilted on their toes, I shall have no trouble in making you admit that the attitude is not one which would appeal to the casual observer as full of grace. Rest the soles of your feet on the floor at a graceful angle, with not more than the toes showing from beneath your gown.

GRAY HAIRED FOLKS ATTENTION!

Gray Hair Darkened Evenly—No Greasy Drugs—Harmless—

No matter how many other things have failed to restore color to your gray hair, no matter what your age or what caused your grayness, "Q-Ban" enables you to darken your hair to original color, vigor and charm. If hair is streaked with gray, white, faded or all gray, on retiring apply Q-Ban to hair and scalp like a shampoo. Let hair fall free and dry over night. It darkens the hair beautifully, evenly, naturally and produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which makes the hair so fascinating and attractive, besides prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. Q-Ban is not sticky or mussy—delightful to use. Cannot injure or stain the most delicate scalp or hair. If you care for dark, thick, soft hair, free from grayness, make a personal trial of Q-Ban. It will please, delight and surprise you with satisfactory results to your hair. A large 7-ounce bottle sold and guaranteed for only 50 cents by Edmondson's Drug Stores, 11 N. Broad street, or 104 N. BE BEAUTIFUL

BY ABIGAIL MOORE.

Just now fashion calls for a lavish use of lace and other trimmings and of draperies more or less complex, all of which is a menace to "lines." Only an artist can manage to continue them through interruptions of frills and furbelows, but upon doing so depends the success of the gown, preserving it from an appearance of fussiness that is never by any chance attractive.

For the benefit of the home dressmaker it should be explained that folds, without losing the careless effect that is their chief charm, should assume a general direction. They may twist and fall in here and out there, but they tend all one way.

There should always be one important line that conspicuously serves as a cue to the rest of the dress. There should also be a straight line—always one straight line, whatever the design of the gown.

This is one of the laws of dress designing, and the line is sometimes called the "line of dignity" because, however frilly and flippant a frock may be, here is this one line that saves its reputation. By lengthening or shortening the line, by raising or lowering it, apparent height and slenderness are affected. In the same way draperies may be adjusted to conceal defects in the lines of the figure.

Every woman should cultivate, if she hasn't it naturally, an appreciation of the lines of her own figure and then adapt the prevailing fashions to them. Instead, many women adopt a mode because it is popular, forgetting that it was created not for them but for trade purposes.

Dress is an expression of character and a powerful aid to a pleasing personality. The woman who neglects to make the most of it is not taking advantage of all possibilities that lie within her power.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

Kick your heels and jump and dance!
Hop and skip and gaily prance!
Sister South Wind's come to stay,
And Mistress Spring is on the way!

Everybody said that Peter Rabbit and Jumper the Hare had gone crazy. Of course, it wasn't true. They weren't really crazy, even if they did act so. People always say that Jumper the Hare is mad at this time of the year, but it isn't so unless trying to show how happy and full of joy you feel is madness. That was the trouble with Jumper and Peter this time. They were so full of joy that they just had to do something, and because they couldn't sing and shout—for you know they have no voices for singing and shouting—they just had to do something to show how glad and happy they were, and so, in the moonlight, when they thought no one saw them, they hopped and skipped and jumped and danced and did all sorts of foolish things.

But other people did see them. Jimmy Skunk saw them and said "How silly!" Bobby Coon, poking his head out of his hollow tree to see if the last bit of snow had disappeared, yawned sleepily and said, "How foolish!"

But Peter and Jumper didn't know this, and they wouldn't have cared much anyway. They didn't have room for anything but the joy that filled their hearts, and that joy was because they knew that Mistress Spring was on the way and she always brings the glad time, the happy time, the merry time, when the very air is full of joy and love, and it is, oh, so good to be alive! They knew that she was on the way because Sister South Wind had arrived and told them so, for Sister South Wind, had come to prepare the way for her, to melt the snow and ice and to whisper to all the trees which had slept the long winter through that it was time to wake. So they forgot everything else in the joy of this good news. Peter forgot all his trouble because his friends and neighbors wouldn't believe the story he had told them of the strange great tracks he had found deep in the Green Forest. In fact, he forgot all about those tracks himself. There was too much else to think about. The Green Forest and the Green Meadows, and the Laughing Brook and the Smiling Pool would soon be waking up, and Peter just had to be on hand to greet each of the sleepers who had spent the long, hard, cold winter warmly tucked in bed and knowing nothing about Jack Frost, or rough Brother North Wind, or how hard it had been sometimes to get something to eat.

So Peter hopped and skipped and danced in the moonlight with Jumper the Hare and was happy. "No more days of hunting and hunting to find enough to eat!" he cried, as he foolishly tried to jump over his own shadow. "No more racing around to keep from freezing to death!" And then, just because he didn't have to, Peter raced faster and harder than ever. You know, it is a lot easier to do things when you don't have to. It is fun then.

"Just the same," added Peter, "I wouldn't sleep all winter the way Johnny Chuck does, and Grandfather Frog and Striped Chipmunk and a lot of others for anything. Think of all they miss! It's worth it even if we do have hard times once in a while. And it's going to be such fun to see all the sleepers wake up! Yes, sir, I'm glad I don't sleep through the winter, but I'm gladder still that Mistress Spring is on the way.

Hippity-hoppity, skippity-skoppity,
I couldn't keep still if I would!
Skippity-skoppity, hippity-hoppity,
I'm glad, there's no reason I should.

Hoosier
"White Beauty"
advertised in leading magazines

The End of a Great Offer:

Tomorrow Your Last Chance to Have the New Hoosier Put in Your Home for $1

Will you decide now to come down tomorrow and settle the matter once for all, or will you let tomorrow drift by—and then realize you are too late to decide; because the Hoosier Plan of Sale positively will close tomorrow?

Scores of other women are in your state of mind. They are reading this final call tonight. And many who have postponed as you have are making up their minds tonight to come down tomorrow for a final decision.

A choice still remains between "White Beauty" (selected by 3 out of 4 women) and the Hoosiers with "Oak" interior. But the numbers are few and you cannot hope to get one if you delay. You incur no obligation by coming, so let other matters wait tomorrow while you settle this important question.

You could scarcely imagine a decision of more importance to you. For the new Hoosier is a wonderful labor-saver—already used by 700,000 women. It saves miles of steps and hours of valuable time. It saves health and good looks. It is very low in price—and on the liberal terms of the Hoosier Plan is the Cheapest Kitchen Cabinet Ever Built.

The Hoosier Plan Is Simply This:

1. $1 puts any Hoosier you select in your Home.
2. $1 weekly quickly pays for it.
3. The Low Cash Price fixed by the Factory prevails strictly.
4. The Sale is under direct supervision of the Hoosier Company.
5. No interest. No extra fees.
6. Your money back if you are not delighted with your Hoosier.

What Possible Reason can remain to deprive you of the use of this Hoosier? Only the small number of Hoosiers left and the certainty that more women will come than we can supply. Every day we have enrolled more women on the Hoosier plan than we expected. There are fewer cabinets left for tomorrow than we have sold on any one day. These few undoubtedly would be taken without this ad, but we make this final announcement to keep our promise to advise you of the last day.

We Now Have Kept Our Promise to You

Please remember, if you come too late, that we have told you every day of the progress of this sale, and that we now give you the final date in time for you to still enroll if you act early tomorrow.

These 40 Features which we have described in detail this week, are backed by the full guarantee of the Hoosier Company. For 16 years this company has built the famous and in all that time has never added an "improvement" that proved a failure. But unless you sit down in front of this beautiful cabinet and see its wonderful conveniences yourself you cannot hope to realize how much labor this new Hoosier would save you.

(1) See for instance, how the big, roomy, metal table, slides out 16 inches over the base. Notice how an exclusive Hoosier patent prevents this table from warping.

(2) Observe especially how cleverly the inside of the door space above the table is utilized to bring things you need often nearest your hand. The sliding table enables you to open the doors without removing anything from the table, and the insides of the doors save any danger of knocking things over by reaching across the table.

——Metal Meal Bin

Our window, displaying these features in "White Beauty," has caused more talk than any window display we've ever had. SEE IT. Tomorrow is the last day.

Ant-Proof Casters

(3) "What shall we have for Dinner?" Mrs. Christine Frederick's Food Guide—now an exclusive part of the Hoosier Cabinet, will save you enough time and money to pay for the Cabinet in less than a year. Simply turn the dial until you see the meat you want and a choice of several perfectly balanced economical menus is before you.

(4) Every woman has favorite recipes. If you're like most women, you have difficulty remembering where you put the one you want. The Metal Recipe Card File has 50 cards and ten index guides. You can paste or write the recipe and file it always at your fingers' ends. A special holder is provided so you can keep any recipe you are using at level of your eyes—without holding or soiling it.

(5) In your examination tomorrow, be sure to note carefully the New Shaker Sifter we've already described. It shakes flour through instead of grinding it through. It cannot wear out. It cannot grind grit or dirt through. It makes flour fluffy and light. The only thing of its kind. An absolutely new helper in your kitchen.

These and 35 other conveniences are worth examining tomorrow—even at some personal effort on your part. Tomorrow is your last chance to decide whether you want them now on the easy Hoosier Plan.

Grace Ward stared with a crafty smile into the face of the fashionably gowned woman lying on the tumbled bed in Yeen Kee's opium dive. The woman's face, though still youthful and pretty, showed traces of the opium curse, and Grace Ward saw that she was an almost exact double of herself, the queen of thieves and associate of sluggers and cutthroats.

"She ain't been at it long," she murmured, stooping over the sleeping woman, "but the stuff's gettin' her fast. Society lady too, ugh! If it wasn't for that baby face of hers they couldn't tell me and her apart. What's this?"

With the instinct of a thief, Grace had opened the sleeping girl's gold mash bag and extracted a letter addressed to Miss Nell Cunard. She read the brief note:

"Wear your co-ed costume at the ball tonight, and I will not mistake you for your sister. I will wear cap and gown.—Phil."

"Phil—Phil?" mumbled the thief, restoring the letter to the bag. 'Wonder if that ain't my old-time friend, Phil Kelly, who thinks he's a whole Sherlock Holmes outfit." The nimble mind of the thief worked rapidly. "This lady has a sister who looks so much like herself they've got to wear different clothes to be told apart. That makes three of us what look alike enough to be triplets," she reasoned, staring thoughtfully at the face of the sleeper.

"I'll do it," she muttered. "This baby face here ain't likely to sleep it off for several hours. I'd like to know how it feels to be Miss Nell Cunard for an hour. Guess I'll slip into that co-ed costume and go to the ball and see my old friend Phil."

GRACE SEES CHANCE FOR TRICK.

She smiled gloatingly in anticipation of the adventure. It would be such a good joke to sneak into that ballroom in the disguise of Miss Nell Cunard and pick up a trinket or two right under the nose of Phil Kelly, the famous detective and clubman, who had sworn he would send her to the penitentiary.

With an agility acquired through many years of practice she stole into the Cunard mansion late that evening and found Nell's room. The co-ed costume was hanging in the wardrobe, and Grace quickly exchanged it for the dress she was wearing. It was not the first time she had disguised herself in strange attire to obtrude her thieving genius upon a fashionable society throng.

A glance in the mirror assured her that her task of impersonating the society woman who was sleeping off the effects of a drug debauch in Yeen Kee's dive would not be at all difficult. She tripped down to the ball room and lost herself in the gay and glittering throng. Presently a man in cap and gown elbowed his way to her side and with a quiver of mischievous triumph she perceived that her disguise and her striking resemblance to Nell Cunard deceived him completely.

"Sweetheart, I am glad you followed my suggestion," he murmured. It is so awkward to make mistakes—only the other night I told your sister Jo certain tender confidences intended only for your ears, dearest. She took it in good nature, of course."

Grace smiled. Her triumph was complete.

"Here's another queer thing," said Phil Kelly. "Lately I have been on the trail of one of the cleverest woman thieves in the country. She calls herself Grace Ward. She looks so much like you and Jo that I don't think anyone could tell the three of you apart."

Grace laughed. "How interesting!" she exclaimed, readily forgetting the patois of opium dives and dens of thieves.

"I have staked my professional reputation on my ability to convict her," added Phil proudly. "She's a slippery little crook, but sooner or later I shall get her. She has—sweetheart, what's the matter?" he cried anxiously, steadying her with his arm.

TWIN'S APPROACH MAKES TIGHT PLACE.

Grace had seen a slender young woman approach, a woman who was a double of herself as well as of that other woman who now was tossing on the bed in the opium dive. Her mind worked with the rapidity of lighting. Could she hope to deceive Jo as readily as she had deceived the detective? She was not sure. She decided to feign sudden illness.

"It is dreadfully close in here," she murmured feebly. "Please take me to the alcove. And bring me a glass of wine, please. I shall be all right in a moment." Phil led her away and hastened for the wine. Jo joined her a moment later and anxiously inquired what she could do.

"I believe I forogt my fan. it's in my room," groaned Grace weakly. "Please fetch it, dear."

Jo, suspecting nothing, hurried away. In an instant Grace had recovered from her sudden illness. She plunged into the whirl of the masquerade, her practiced eye seeking easy prey. A string of diamonds around the gleaming throat of a gossiping matron proved irresistable. A deft wielding of tiny nippers, an agile retreat into the throng, and the necklace was hidden in the folds of the thief's dress. Then a scream, and confusion. The woman, discovering her loss, had fainted.

The disorder gave Grace her opportunity for escape. But first she must exchange the co-ed costume for her own clothes. She ran back to Nell's room and was about to make a hasty change when Phil Kelly, followed by the two sisters, burst into the room. Nell had successful in removing all traces of her visit to the opium den.

"It was clever of you, Grace," said the gerat detective, 'but I have you this time. There is no escape for you."

Queen of Thieves Makes Escape.

Grace laughed tauntingly as she pressed the button and switched off the light. Guided by the instinct of a thief, she hastened down a corridor, descended a fire escape and eluded her pursuers in a dark alley. Then she remembered the necklace. She had tossed it into a corner of Nell's room as the detective entered. She decided to return for it; it was dangerous, but she enjoyed dangerous pursuits, and if she were successful her daring would further humiliate the great detective. She retraced her steps and found Nell's room dark. She recovered the necklace and was about to make her escape when the door flung open and a maid sprang upon her with a shriek.

Grace strangled the scream with a clutch at the girl's throat. There was a struggle, but the girl was no match for the fighting strength of the thief. Grace shoved the maid into a chair and gagged her. But the great Kelly was not yet sufficiently humiliated. She scribbled a note:

"Thanks for the costume. My compliments to the greatest detective on earth. Grace Ward."

She pinned the note to the maid's dress, slipped from the building, and half an hour later, flushed with excitement and triumph, she was seated at a table in Yeen Kee's. She was contemplating gleefully the master detective's chagrin, when a door opened noiselessly and the man who had occupied her thoughts entered. He seemed surprised at finding her there. Grace glanced about the room for a chance of escape, but saw no opportunity. She was trapped.

But Phil Kelly did not seem anxious to arrest her.

"It's queer," he mumbled, seating himself opposite the thief. "I had expected to find someone else."

"Some one you thought you were in love with," sugested Grace. "Well, you'll probably find her here. She's been spending most of her time here lately." Her mind was busy seeking an avenue of escape. Kelly was not listening. A perplexed frown had crept into his face.

"I don't see what can have happened to Nell Cunard," he said. "I was trying to trace you after you wriggled out of our grasp tonight. I happened to see Miss Cunard's automobile, and on the seat was her pet dog. I released him and he led me straight to this place. I can't understand."

Grace smiled tauntingly. "It's simple enough. That baby-faced sweetheart of yours has been hittin' the dope pretty steady lately. She was here this afternoon—that's how I happened to be at the ball—and I guess as soon as the ball was over she sneaked back again."

"You lie!" blazed Phil.

HIS SWEETHEART IN AN OPIUM DEN.

Grace shrugged. "See for yourself." She opened a door and pointed to a woman lying on a bed. It was Nell. She was in the depths of a fevered, delirious sleep and there was a rapt expression in her face that indicated the closed eyes were glimpsing far, sweet vistas.

Phil groaned, a groan wrenchd from aching depths, and the strong man trembled with grief. His face wore a mask of tragedy and utter despair. He wrung his hands.

Grace watched him with a gloating leer. If she could but add a climax to her triumphs by ensnaring the master detective with her wiles. That was all she lacked. She had fascinated many men with the black, sorcerous depths of her eyes. Why not Phil Kelly?

She touched his shoulder and smiled temptingly. Phil pushed her aside, but she knew that half her purpose had been accomplished. She thought his love for Nell was dead. Absorbed in thoughts of conquest, she did not notice that Phil had drawn a pair of handcuffs from his pocket. He sprang at her, but Grace dodged behind a curtain and disappeared through a panel in the wall. She escaped from the house by secret passage, which she knew well, but instinct told her she was being pursued. She ran to the lodging house and entered her room, but Phil's assistants were following. She eluded them by escaping through a trap door, a cellar, an underground passage and through dark alleys.

An hour later, seated in a restaurant, she glanced beyond the rim of flushed faces and saw Phil enter. In an instant she knew his keen eyes had penetrated her disguise. He had traced her, and she was trapped again. He sat down at her table and greeted her as a friend.

"No chance this time," he whispered. "House surrounded."

She met his gaze unflinchingly. There was but one hope left. She must fascinate this man, make a slave of him as she had the others. "How is baby-face?" she asked demurely.

The quiver in his face told her the question had stabbed him. He quavered before her like a crushed, broken man. She flashed her sorcery upon him; again she was the artful siren whose wiles few men could resist. She threw necromantic glances at him and dispensed small, brilliant talk with ease acquired as part of her training as a thief.

Phil drew a little package from his pocket and handed it to her. "Just a little present," he mumbled awkwardly. "Hope you will accept it as a remembrance of me."

At last she was sure of victory. She broke the string, unfolded the wrapping, removed the cover and looked. And as she looked the flush of triumph faded from her face. The box contained a pair of handcuffs.

Phil's manner had changed abruptly. "You didn't really believe I would be so easily trapped, did you? As I told you, there is no chance. The interesting and brilliant career of Grace Ward will have to close. As for Nell Cunard," His voice softened and grew tender. "She has escaped from the curse. After I had taken her away from that infernal hole of Yeen Kee's and brought her home, she promised me she would never touch it again. She gave her promise in a way that told me she poured her whole life and soul and heart into the resolve. She will win. She is young. And I am going to help her. Guess you had better come along now. My men are waiting outside."

She followed him across the floor, a limp, scorched and withered thing. At the door she seized Phil's arm. "I want you to help her," she whispered brokenly. "And I'll help, too—I'll pray for her."

OUR ASTROLOGER

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

HOROSCOPE FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 14, 1914.

To keep ills few
Test nothing new.

Astrologers read in the position of the planets today a warning that conditions are not fortunate for human activities. Neptune is in a place held to be strongly evil, while both Saturn and Mercury are in adverse aspect.

The influences are unfavorable for investments, and it is not a day in which to enter into new partnerships or business associations.

There is an evil omen for hospitals, prisons and all public institutions. It is not an auspicious time for taking medicines or anaesthetics.

As the adverse aspect of Neptune is supposed to intensify psychic emotions and arouse vain ambitions, it is well to distrust impulses, especially if one is a subject of the planet, born between February 20 and March 20.

Secretaries, school teachers, general accountants, clerks and tailors should be cautious until the figure changes.

Today's auguries are not good for actors, sculptors, writers and artists, who may meet discouragements and severe criticism.

Pilots, skippers, chandlers and others who have to do with seagoing occupations should beware of dangers while Saturn is inimical.

Night workers of every grade are subject to disturbing vibrations, astrologers declare, while this configuration dominates.

It is prophesied that the secretary of the navy will have to face perplexing situations within the next month. Severe demands will be made upon him and he will have a chance to win fame by sagacity.

Omaha will attract attention by peculiar political complications. Elections there and in other western cities will create unusual interest.

Fires and scenes of violence are predicted for New York City from the 10th to the 17th of next month. As there is a threatening sign for Wall street at this period, speculators are warned against risks which would be comparatively safe in ordinary circumstances.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the prognostication of rather a trying year. Men will find business exacting and women will probably have many domestic anxieties.

Children born on this day may have a quiet career with few troubles. Plenty of money and happy marriage are foreshadowed in their horoscope, but much depends upon the time of birth.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, March 13.—Judge Smith McPherson, of the United States district court, today announced that Judge Walter I. Smith, of Council Bluffs, judge of the United States circuit court of appeals; District Judge John C. Pollock, of Kansas City, and himself, would officiate at the final hearing in Council Bluffs, March 21, of the appeal of the convicts from the Iowa state penitentiary at Fort Madison from the sterilization law enacted by the legislature.

The application of the law to state convicts recently was ordered by the the state board of control of state institutions. An injunction issued by Judge McPherson acts as a stay in its execution until its legality is determined.

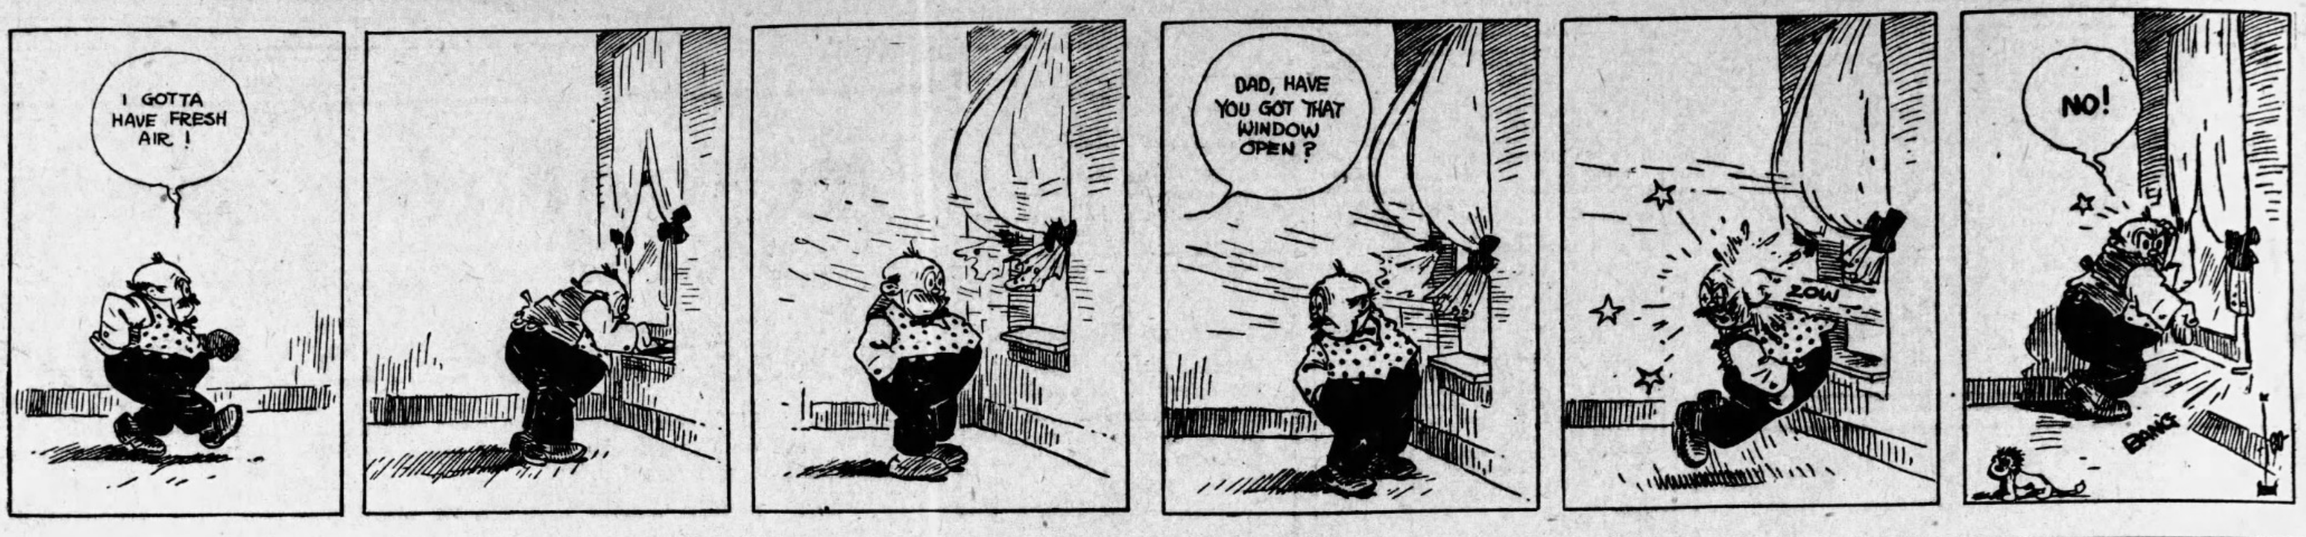
Ritchie Defends Lightweight Crown Against Ad Wolgast

LITTLE PAL---HE FORGOT THE SNOW --BY LEO



Willie Ritchie Beat Wolgast In Ten Rounds

Lightweight Champion Successfully Defends Crown Against Battler, From Whom He Won It—Winner Was Easily Best in Five of Ten Rounds

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 13.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion of the world, earned a shade over Ad Wolgast, former champion in their ten-round bout here last night.

The champion outboxed the Michigan boy in five rounds and in the seventh had Wolgast backing away from his punches. Wolgast sank to one knee when Ritchie landed a shower of blows on his stomach and took the count of four. He later rushed at the champion but Ritchie danced away.

Twice during the bout Wolgast was warned by Referee Stout for his rough work in clinches. In the eighth and ninth rounds Ritchie clearly outboxed the former champion.

Wolgast rushed at Ritchie at the opening of the tenth and sent his right and left to Ritchie's face and body, but Ritchie did not give ground and met Wolgast with right and left jabs to the jaw. Both boys were fighting fiercely when the bell rang.

Wolgast was fouled in the seventh when the champion delivered a hard blow to the Michigan boy's groin, according to a statement by Dr. C. A. Morter, a member of the state boxing commission, after Wolgast went to his dressing room and underwent an examination. It was in the seventh session that Wolgast fell on one knee, taking the count of four.

As it is against the Wisconsin law to render a decision, the result only can be decided by the newspaper writers. Two Milwaukee morning papers call the contest a draw, while all the Chicago morning papers with one exception give Ritchie a shade. The single Chicago paper called it a draw.

Receipts of the bout amounted to $39,805, according to a statement today by Manning Vaughn, secretary of the Wisconsin State Boxing commission. Forty per cent of this amount, or $15,922, went to Ritchie. Wolgast received $11,941, 30 per cent and the promoters divided $9,952, Vaughn said. The commission received $1,990.

The contract for the fight provided that Ritchie would receive 40 per cent of the receipts and Wolgast 30 per cent or that Wolgast would receive 70 per cent of the total receipts out of which he would have to pay Ritchie $10,000. The champion chose the 40 per cent.

Eggers Put K. O. On Kid Young In Third Round

New York Boxer Had Little Trouble in Winning From Local Battler — Meyer Pries Won Popular Decision Over Spider Britt in Eight Rounds

Knockout Eggers a featherweight battler, who hails from New York, put the finishing touches on Kid Young, the pride of local newsboys Thursday night at the Georgia Athletic club. Eggers won by a knockout in the third round, of what was scheduled as a ten-round battle.

Shortly after the mill started, it became apparent that Eggers carried an assortment of the kind of stuff that did not appeal to Young. In the first place, he stung Young a few quick ones on the beak, and then began a tattoo on the local boy's short ribs. In the meantime, Young was having trouble in getting his mitts past Eggers' guard. The combination proved highly distasteful to Young. When Eggers continued to pour his fusilade into Young's middle section, the latter caved in. It looked very much as though Young was trying to locate a soft spot on the canvas, especially since Eggers did not appear to carry a very forceful punch.

Meyer Pries won a decision over Spider Britt in the 8-round preliminary. For once the decision proved popular with local fans. Britt asumed a crouching covered style of fighting, which did not appear to avail him much, and which furthermore proved very displeasing to the spectators. Britt has always been a popular little boxer, but his performance last night did not help his reputation in any respect.

Kid York was awarded the fight between himself and Kid Henry from Fort McPherson in the fourth round. Henry hurt his right hand in the opening round, and was unable to use it thereafter. Two negro boys opened the card with a tame four-round draw.

DeOro Defends Billiard Title

NEW YORK, March 13.—Alfredo De Oro, holder of the world's championship three-cushion billiard title, successfully defended his right to that honor last night by defeating Fred Eames, of Denver, by a score of 50 to 43 in 96 innings. The total score for the three nights of play was: De Oro 150, Eames 107.

Seeks Championship

Charlie White is planning a tour of the world seeking matches for the lightweight championship. White has had a lot of disappointments in failing to get matches with American fighters and is seeking them abroad. His ambition is to be champion of the world. "And," he says, "I'll be champion inside the next year."

Gardner Beat Chas. Heddon

Former Amateur Billiard Champion Won From Michigan Crack—Score Stood 400 to 203

NEW YORK, March 13.—In Thursday's continued play in the national amateur championship billiard tournament Edward W. Gardner, of the Arion society, of this city, defeated Charles Heddon, of Dowagiac, Mich., by 400 to 203. Gardner, a former national champion, played a steady game in the first innings for a total of 172, which included a run of ninety-four on his fourth turn, while Heddon gathered only twenty-seven. Gardner increased his lead with several runs of double figures later on and won in the thirty-fifth inning.

The Michigan state champion played a plucky uphill game in face of the disheartening lead of his opponent and was frequently applauded for some of the prettiest masse and follow shots seen thus far in the tournament. Invariably he met setbacks through unlucky kisses and lineups, playing to score on each shot and never trying for "safety." The scores: Gardner, 400; average, 11 15-35; high runs, 94, 36, 35. Heddon, 203; average, 5 28-35; high runs, 27, 26, 23. Referee, Charles F. Conklin, Chicago.

Last night's game was won by J. Ferdinand Poggenburg, the international champion, who defeated Dr. Walter Euffenheimer, of Philadelphia, 400 to 202. Poggenburg ran into double figures in thirteen of the thirty-six innings he played. Score: Poggenburg, total, 400; average, 11 4-36; high runs, 6, 47, 40. Euffenheimer, total, 202; average, 5 27-35; high runs, 33, 32, 26.

Morris D. Brown, of Brooklyn, this afternoon will play Eugene L. Milburn, of Memphis, Tenn. In the night game Poggenburg will meet Charles Heddon.

Mike Balenti Wants Gridiron Coaching Job

Former Carlisle Football Star, Now a Member of McCormick's Lookouts, Would Remain in South as Gridiron Instructor—Well Suited for Such Position

CHATTANOOGA Tenn., March 13.—Although he has not booted the swinehide for three seasons, Mike Balenti longs for the rah-rahs once again. The Indian tires of the long, weary winter in the ice-clad Alaska, and just now, in the very beginning of the springtime, is looking around for a job as football and baseball coach at some college, preferably in the south, which will keep him in "the states" next winter.

The Indian speed merchant confided his wishes to a group of friends yesterday, and stated that he didn't want to make the journey to Alaska again—that he wouldn't have spent the past two winters in close proximity to the Arctic circle had it not been for family conditions which made it imperative for Mrs. Balenti not to travel, and that he wanted to be close to the "missus."

Although Balenti is quite a considerable baseball player now, he most likely will never achieve the paramount position in the diamond world that he held on the gridiron in the days of his starring at Carlisle. He was not far from making as great a reputation on the gridiron as a countryman of his, Jim Thorpe, made in all branches a few years later. He was the best athlete turned out during the early days of Warner's regime at the national Indian school.

Four years have passed since Mike Balenti took his degree and went into professional sport. Time has somewhat dimmed the memory of his achievements, for college glory is always short-lived, but Mike hasn't forgotten. Like every football player who ever played the rah-rah game for long, he feels ever and anon the call of the gridiron—and dreams his old signal in the wee sma' hours.

While Balenti has never been tested as a coach his natural ability ought to make him a success as a gridiron director. He is of deliberate turn a quick and constant thinker and always easy to respond to teaching of those who happened to know more about a situation than he does himself. As an all-round coach he ought to be a winner as his knowledge of both football and baseball would make him thoroughly at home in both premier southern college sports.

The country has never had a more fertile football school than is taught by Glen Warner and Balenti has been one of its most apt pupils. The Indian school system is especially strong on offense and the Carlisle eleven always scores. Zeros opposite the names of the Indians are infrequent though they sometimes let the enemy drill through them for enough touchdowns to win. The Carlisle system is not used in the south and it should prove a winner when tried for the first time. Southern football's tendency is rather in the direction of too little scoring and a little Carlisle stuff would help greatly.

One school has already adopted the Carlisle system, the University of Alabama employing Coach Warner's assistant. Balenti's credentials will doubtless be strong enough to bring him a position at another school. The Indian was offered a position in St. Louis university last fall, but conditions were such that he could not accept it.

Pitcher Schulz Reports

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 13.—Pitcher Carl Schulz, brother to the American league twirler, reported to Manager Gilks today, making a total of fourteen players in the city for the training season.

Manager Lord Reaches Mobile

(By Associated Press.)

MOBILE, Ala., March 13.—Briscoe Lord, who will manage the Mobile club during the 1914 league race, reached Mobile early Thursday.

The present roster of the club was given by Manager Lord as follows:

Pitchers—W. Robertson and LaRue Kirby, of last year's club; Keeley, Liebemann, semi-professionals; Williams and Cullon, formerly with New Orleans.

Infielders—Calhoun, Jersey City International league; O'Dell, last year's club; Perry, from Nashville; Tepe, from Evansville, of the Central league.

Outfielders—Lord, Clark, Miller.

Only one man on the club's roster has not signed a contract, "Kid" McGill, with the club a portion of last season.

Ty Cobb Spends Day in Atlanta

Tyrus Cobb, the gentleman who put Royston on the map, who was the leading factor in landing three American league pennants for Detroit, and who has done notable things on the diamond too numerous to mention, spent the greater part of Friday in Atlanta. Ty is en route to Gulfport, Miss., where he will join the Detroit club in their training camp. Tyrus is traveling alone on this trip, having left Mrs. Cobb and the little ones at his home in Augusta. They will go direct to Detroit after the team finishes the training season.

As usual, Cobb is in good shape, and, with two or three days' workout, he could go in and play his regular game. He joins the Tigers this year well pleased with conditions, and expects to have one of his best years. He also thinks that his club should begin the climb back to its form of a few years ago with the new material on hand. Especially does he entertain high hopes for the young twirlers. He also prophesies that Connie Mack's youngsters, Brown, Shawkey, Bush and others, will prove very valuable twirlers during the approaching season.

He has not even given the Federals a thought.

Club Officials Coming South

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 13.—A party of officials and stockholders of the Philadelphia National league baseball club left here last night on a special train to visit the club's training grounds at Wilmington, N. C. John R. Lobert, third baseman, who was a member of the world's tourists, accompanied them. Governor John K. Tener, president of the National league, and his private secretary, Walter Gaither, will join the party at Washington.

Swedes Banish Jack Johsnon

STOCKHOLM, March 13.—"Jack" Johnson, the American negro pugilist, who was to have engaged in wrestling matches with Jess Pedersen and others in Gothenburg, has been forced to leave Sweden owing to the hostile demonstration against him.

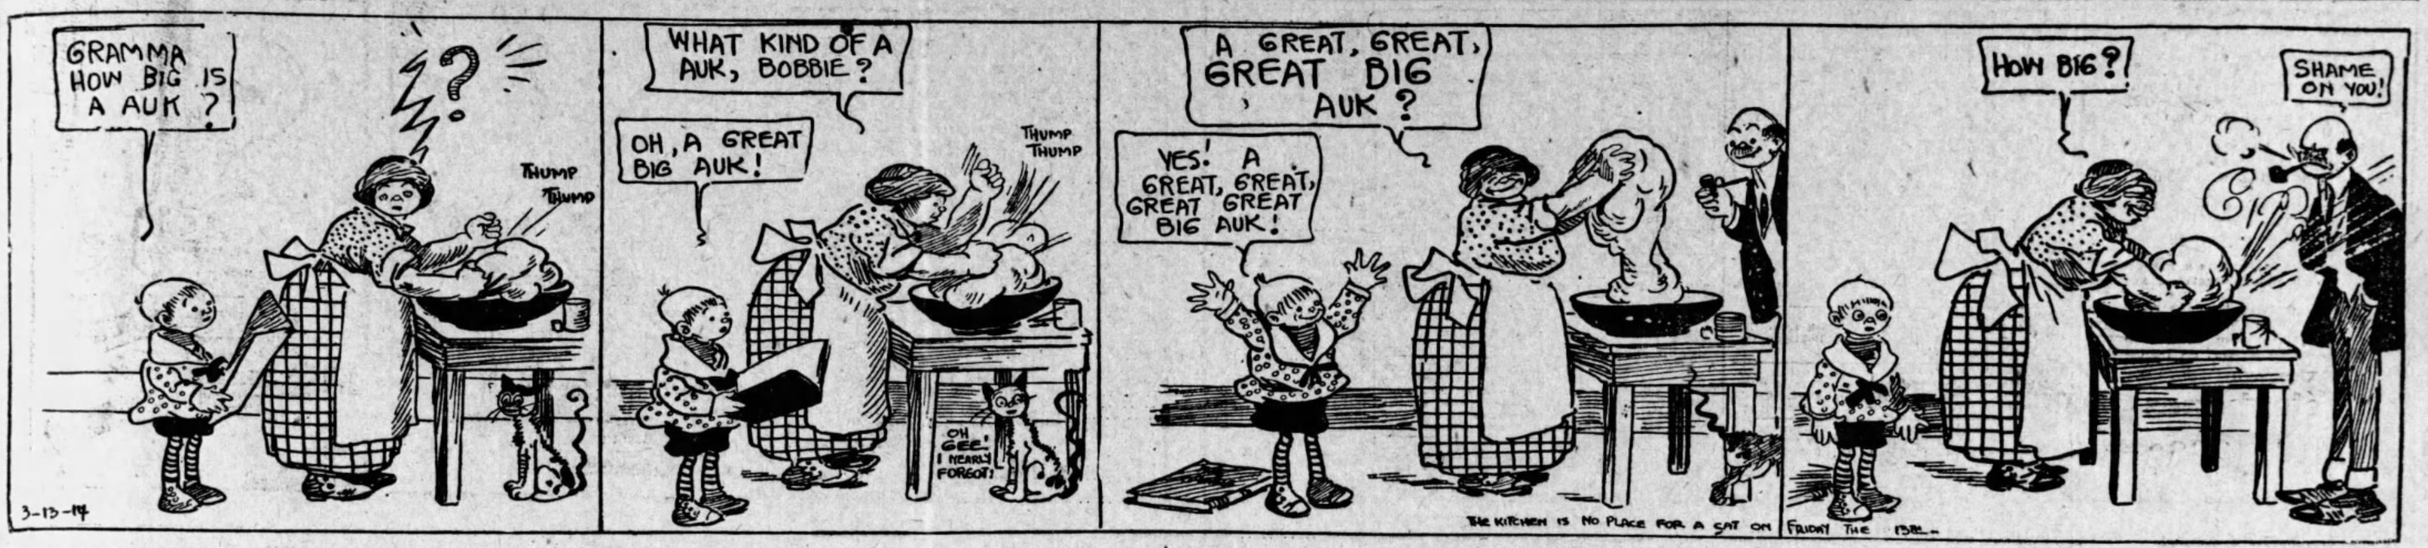
Cubs Beat Athletics in First Game of Spring Series

DAY BY DAY WITH THE DEYS ---BY CLARE VICTOR DWIGGINS



THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

We enjoyed, for a few moments, the hazy idea that the recent visit of Giants and White Sox to Lo doon had bolstered up a bit the friendly feeling between England and America. Perhaps it has.

But while we were pondering the question, our eagle-eyed English correspondent mails us the following, from a well-known sport historian in the London Sketch. Read and get wise—

"The impudence of the Yankee knows no limit; and their recent baseball visit here has afforded another opportunity for the display of it. Mr. John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, says that baseball is a much better game than cricket, and he also offers the testimony that England is losing her snap and vigour."

CONTINUING "THE SKETCH"—

"No more," continues the writer, "than my readers do I like the indiscriminate use of stale expletives; but—Damn his impudence—Yes, that is the very least I can say.

"We are losing our vigour, are we? It's none of his business; but how does he come to that conclusion? Is it because a few scaremongers lamented wtih indecent sobs our failure to win certain fantastic trials of skill? * * * Anyhow, let me tell him that we do not in the least desire the sham vigour of the Yankee—that hysterical hustle WHICH ACHIEVES NOTHING BUT RAGTIME, REVUES, POLITICAL CORRUPTION AND DYSPEPSIA. We do not believe that breakneck speed and solid vigour are the same thing. The less we yield to the Yankee fever, the stronger we shall be."

CRIES OF "GO ON"—

"But suppose we are degenerate? Does this naive gentleman imagine that a dose of baseball will cure us? The Yankees are hustlers and they hustle in their games. We are not hustlers and we do not hustle in our games—not even in football. To adopt the game of baseball would be indeed a fatal sign of our degeneracy. But there is not much fear of that.

"Is baseball popular in America because it is a fine training for young men? Not a bit of it. It is popular because it is exciting to watch. The degenerate Yankee is far more debauched by the lust of excitement than even we are. I wonder—is it possible for the Yankee to understand the meaning of the word 'game?'"

WHERE WE STAND.

Now you know about where we stand with a certain section of the English populace anyway.

We plead guilty to the "ragtime" and the "political dyspepsia." Going further than that we'll plead wtih equal guilt to the tango craze, William Jennings Bryan, the Mexican muddle and Old Doc Cook. Also to Eva Tanguay, spring millinery and the inability to hit Walter Johnson or stop Frank Baker in a world series. Also to our crop of White Hopes.

HOWSOEVER—

But—if our vigor is "sham vigor," as the "Sketch" suggests, where would England have been if our Olympic team, the Big Four, Maurice McLoughlin and Francis Ouimet had been installed with a bit of "real vigor?" If, with a lining of "sham vigor," we can establish a percentage of .986, why bother about it?

A POINT OR TWO.

In spite of the aggrieved peevishness of the sketch historian, he brings out one or two available points. He is quite correct when he states that "America hustles—and England doesn't."

But America believes that a game worth playing is worth playing well enough to try and win. And England is coming to this attitude as fast as her flying legs will carry her. If England doesn't care at all for victory in competition, why the deuce is she shooting her polo team over year after year? Why did she send her best two golfers last season, and will continue the attack wtih an even stronger array this summer? Why is she marshaling her athletic or sportive forces on land and water for a general 1914 assault? For the exquisite pleasure and abiding bliss of having her "block knocked off," as William Dean Howells might say, or in the combined hope and belief that she can re-assemble a few of her championship cups, withdrawn from English circulation some time ago?

England, friends, countrymen and tangoists, is coming over here this time to win if she bally well can. Her ancient theory that the game is infinitely beyond the score is evaporating—especially if the score is established by fair, clean play. England is learining that it pays to hustle, and she is putting her lately acquired knowledge into practice. And for this reason she will be harder to beat in 1914 than she was in 1913—a prediction you may carry along until the final scores are in by next October.

ATHLETICS VS. BROWNS.

The majority of Americans involved in sport have no grudge against the English, nor will they take the outcry in the "Sketch" with any great seriousness. To take up the "Sketch" argument in detail would be as if the Athletics were suddenly drawn into a heated controversy with St. Louis Browns, as to which was the best ball club, and which had been adopting the saner methods. The argument might romp along merrily, but it would come to an abrupt and morbid end when some unkind bystander made mention of records or results—box scores and standings of the clubs. There would be no argument left then—just as there is no argument now as to whether America or England uses the best system in the development of competitive play. But England is coming around, and when she puts over her first notable victory, hustling her hardest, the first boisterous guffaw and the loudest cheer will come from the thorax of the writer who says that England "does not in the least desire the sham vigor of the Yankees."

England hasn't gone back physically. She has merely allowed America to get the jump upon her in training methods and the art of preparation. She must either come to this system or drop out of competitive play. Either that, or else manufacture each summer an enormous amount of silver plate to be crated annually across the Atlantic.

Branch Rickey has been kidded and joshed a good bit for inaugurating certain decided shifts in Brown training methods. Branch, however, has the consolation of knowing that any move he makes is bound to be in the right direction. That's the only way one can travel from the bottom—unless one decides to jump off into space.

The Feds have done this much, anyway—they have furnished a number of A. L. and N. L. managers a luscious little alibi for any 1914 slump.

Cubs Won First Of Spring Games From Athletics

Battle Was Staged at Tampa and Went Ten Innings—Baker, Barry and Zimmerman Were Absent From Fray, Jimmy Johnson Scored Winning Run for Cubs

TAMPA, Fla., March 13.—In a game featured by plays of midseason brilliancy, the Chicago National league club Thursday afternoon defeated the Philadelphia American league club, world's champions, by a score of 3 to 2. Good's single in the tenth scored Johnson with the winning run.

Both teams showed the effect of some missing stars in the lineup. Baker and Barry were missing from the Athletic lineup, but the playing of Orr and Kopf was brilliant. Otherwise the Athletics' team was intact.

Zimmerman was missing from the Cub lineup, and with the vacancy at second temporarily filled by Phelan until Sweeney arrives, the infield play was erratic at times. Phelan's fumbling at second was responsible for the first run scored by the Athletics. After Murphy had walked in the sixth Phelan failed to handle Bronke's relay of Oldring's grounder, letting Murphy to third from where he scored when Phelan booted Collins' grounder.

Philadelphia's second run was scored in the eighth on Oldring's single to left, Collins' sacrifice and McInnes' single.

A base on balls, a stolen base by Johnson and a wild throw by Schang scored the first run for the Cubs in the first inning. After Mollowitz had singled in the seventh and had been advanced on Bronke's sacrifice, he scored on Corriden's drive to left.

The winning run was scored in the tenth. Archer singled and was forced on Johnson's roller to pitcher, after Williams had skied to center Johnson stole second and scored on Good's long drive to right

Manager O'Day was seriously disappointed when Connie Mack failed to come to Tampa with the Athletics. He and Connie composed a very famous battery twenty-five years ago.

Marist Lost to Boys' High Five

Boys' High defeated the Marist five Thursday afternoon in one of the best games of basketball ever played by two local preps, 26 to 19. The game, which was played on the Atlanta Athletic club's court was sensational throughout and the large crowd was kept in an uproar at all times by the fine playing of both quintets.

After one hour was spent by both sides arguing over who should referee, each side holding out for one man, Fred Hoyt was agreed upon and the game began.

Marist began playing a great game and the ball was in their territory nearly all of the first ten minutes of play. During this time, Marist made one field and one foul goal. Then Boys' High came to life, and aided by the referee giving them one point, ran the score up to 6 to 3. Marist then got one field and one foul, while Boys' High was making two field goals before the half ended. Both teams were going strong when the whistle blew. In this half, "Shag" Hubert, of Marist, made a very sensational shot from the center of the court. Marist and Boys' High both had their team work down good in this half, but their goal shooting was a bit off.

After ten minutes had elapsed, the festivities were again started and Boys' High, this time, was the aggressor. They ran the score up to 19 before Marist had located the hoops. The referee here awarded Boys' High another point and the score was Boys' High 20, Marist 6. Marist then on a series of beautiful passes and field shots, brought the score to within one point of a tie. Four minutes were yet to be played. But Boys' High then came with a rush and shot three field goals, to none for Marist, and the game ended.

JOHNSTON STARS.

The individual star of the contest was Sid Johnston, a forward on the Boys' High quintet. Johnston entered the game not in the best shape physically, but proceeded to play one of the best games that he has ever played this year. His playing was the life of the game nad he made several great shots. Out of the 26 points scored by Boys' High, 12 were donated by Johnston. Floyd and Scott also played well for Boys' High.

For the vanquished, the playing of Cocke at center and McCall at guard was the best. McCall did some excellent guarding for his team, while the three goals that Cocke shot in the second half were great.

The line-up:

BOYS. HIGH.		MARIST.
Johnston, f.,	12	Dodge, f., 3
Starr, f.,	4	Harrison, f., 6
Scott, c.,	8	Cocke, c., 6
Floyd, f.		McCall, f.
Loftis, g.		Hubert, g., 4

Two points awarded the Boys' High team by the referee.

Referee, Hoyt (A. A. C.) Time of halves, 15 and 20 minutes. Foul goals, Scott 2, Dodge 3.

Getting Ready

By Innis Brown

In view of the fact that Ponce de Leon park was rather soft and squidgy Thursday afternoon, Manager Bill Smith consented to give his charges a short rest. Hence there was no practice, and only a small coterie of players journeyed out at all, much to the discomfiture of several score of small boys. Taking advantage of the day off, a party of the crew paid a visit to the Federal prison. Among those who did not go was Ham Reynolds. Ham states that he thinks the gang had in mind the picking out of a nice airy cell for future reference should occasion ever demand.

While the rest of the outfit were out sightseeing at the local bastile, Reynolds, Gil Price, Pitcher Hamilton, Third Baseman Broadwater and Manager Smith sat around the club house and swapped diamond yarns. Reynolds tells a good one from his experiences in the Texas league. He claims that after George Leidy took charge of the Beaumont club last season he would play a double-header on Sunday, and then schedule a game with some small town without league ball for the Monday following. "Not much time lost in that league," is the way Ham puts it.

Manager Smith is pulling hard for nice warm weather today and tomorrow in order that the boys may get in as much time at real practice as possible. He sends them against the Baptist Tabernacle team Saturday, and is anxious to get things smoothed out as much as possible for the first exhibition games here with Cleveland next week. Some of the boys have hardly had time to get rid of the stiffness from travel yet.

Things are beginning to look a little more pleasing to Manager Molesworth with his Barons. Pitcher Grimes, after dallying for a considerable length of time, has decided that it is better to stick by what he knows he can get, than take a flier at something in the dark. Hence he will not jump to the Feds. Also Pitcher Curley Brown has signed his contract.

Bill Schwartz is a popular ball player, and the fans about the league have always wished him well. But if Bill gets together a one-two-three team for Nashville this season he will deserve all the pleasant remarks that have been made about him heretofore, to say nothing of a lot of others which should blow his way. So far, only some three or four players of experience have shown up at the Vol camp, along with a bunch of youngsters, who may pan out, or who may not. The boy manager, however, expects to get several good men from the majors before the season is well under way.

Manager John Dobbs grabbed a twirler, Liebemann by name, from an aggregation of Bloomer Girl ball tossers a few weeks ago. He now thinks that Liebemann is running true to form and that he is a "bloomer" all right, and he has passed him on to the Gulls. This is no slap at Mobile, however.

Washington sport scribes who are passing along the dope from the Nationals' camp at Charlottesville think pretty well of Harry Holland's work, as witness the following from Stanley Milliken in the Post:

"The meeting of the youngsters brought to light a corking good looking infielder in the person of Holland, who was with the Atlanta club last season. He is fast on his feet and handles ground balls, whether to his right or left, with ease such as would do a more experienced man credit. He is quick on the recover, has a good arm, and gets the ball away quick from any position. From his performance today he is the best looking fielder of the recruits.

"Holland also has a good position at the plate and hits the ball hard. Manager Griffith was much pleased with his showing, and watched him carefully."

FULLERTON'S GOSSIP

Stanage today is the best catcher Jennings ever had—not excepting Jimmy Archer when he was a Tiger.

Cobb is giving the best there is in him this year and has lost some of his prima donna temperament. His advice to the youngsters is counting.

Enter the chiropodist. It is a new idea, but the result of caring for the feet of players showed up quickly.

Daily practice in the sliding pit—a square hole constructed by Harry Tuthill, filled with sand and a base at the end—is training "dare devils" in the proper way to pull off hook slides and fallaways.

Pipp lives up to his name in the tryout for first. He takes a lively hold on the old onion and peels it.

Veach is almost a sure starter in the outfield with the regular team.

INCOGNITO.

Shepherd, the husky young pitcher who is trying out with the Tigers here at Gulfport, is a big semi-pro pitcher from Stockton, Cal. He was secured on the recommendation of Oscar Stanage, and was ordered to report at Gulfport for training. Not a word was heard from him. The Tuesday after the Tigers went into camp they were practicing, and a big fellow walked out onto the field and stood leaning against the batting cage. Jennings strolled over and asked him to leave the field, as strangers were not expected there. The big fellow walked away. Jennings commenced to worry about his pitcher, and after two days and a night he discovered that the big fellow he had chased off the field was Shepherd, who had been eating and sleeping at the hotel all the time without introducing himself.

Shade of Malachi Hogan! Snowy Baker has a clock that counts off the ten seconds by electricity. That would give a Dutchman as much chance as an Irishman.

This fellow Sisler, who leads the University of Michigan team, ought to be a warm one.

An optimist is one who always thinks the card the other fellow has in the hole is a four spot. The pessimist always expects to see an ace turn up.

Comiskey will have to do a lot of squaring with some of his Chicago admirers, who will demand to know why he shook hands with the king.

The University of Illinois ought not worry over a scarlet fever epidemic, having survived so many epidemics of freshmen.

MOTHER GOOSE OR FATHER FOX?
Sing a song of millions;
Murphy's made his pile;
When the turnstile's counted
We know who will smile.

That reception was originally planned for Comiskey and McGraw, but it now promises to be for Sam Crawford and Tris Speaker.

HEART SONGS is not a mere collection of music and words! It is a book compiled directly by more than 20,000 people, who, in sending their favorite songs, told why they sent them.

From the lone cabin on the trackless prairie—from the snowy wastes of Alaska—from the mining camp amidst the pines of the lofty Sierras—from the coral strand of an island in the far Pacific, so remote that the ships come only once a year (if they do not forget)—from the garrets of London and Paris, with only the stars above—from the sandy deserts of the Orient—came these outpourings of the human heart—from the men and women who loved them—and the singing of which ofttimes saved their sanity.

Every song in this wonderful book has had some sacred memory—some touching experience—some sweet and hallowed association—connected with it in the hearts of thousands. It is their song of joy—of sorrow—of thanksgiving—of love—of bereavement—of home-coming—of re-union—of all the tender sentiments that lift the human heart in worship to its Maker. It is for this—by inspiration—that this unique volume is entitled "HEART SONGS."

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

The Importance of Properly Housing Your Little Chicks

FOR temporary use a cheap brooder can be constructed by using a box four feet square and placing a floor in the middle of the box. A two-gallon jug can be dropped through the center of the floor in box by cutting out a space in the center of this floor large enough for this jug to pass through, leaving it just so the larger part of the jug will catch so that ten inches of it will be above the floor. Then by taking a barrel hoop and covering it with a piece of flannel or cloth of some kind, having the top covered and the sides with slits in them so the little chicks can pass in and out. By placing three legs on this hover and putting it directly over the jug it makes a splendid hover, and the little chickens will hover around the jug and not have any corners to crowd in. By placing an ordinary 10c or 15c lamp under the jug so that the chimney is two or three inches below it, this lamp will keep the water in the jug at a sufficient temperature of heat so the little chickens will thrive and do well, in a cheaply constructed brooder of this kind. By using a window sash hinged on the front of the box makes a convenient door and lets in plenty sunlight for the little chickens. From fifty to one hundred little chickens can be kept in a brooder of this size until they are three to four weeks old.

The bottom part of the box being enclosed prevents wind or draughts from blowing out the lamp, and by keeping the floor covered with sand and finely chopped alfalfa hay it makes a splendid brooder, one that you can keep at a uniform temperature and a large per cent of the little chickens can be raised.

I saw a short time ago an entire brooder house equipped with brooders of this kind. Some two thousand little chickens were in the house, and I never saw a better lot. I know of a lady who last season kept, or that is started 160 little chickens in one brooder made in this way. The box used for this purpose was four feet square and with the floor placed in the center of the box it leaves a floor space above 2 feet by 4 feet, and a place for the lamp below the same size.

There are a lot of properly constructed, good brooders, with a little house attached, already complete sold on the market, and by nearly all seed dealers. A brooder is just as important as an incubator. It is very essential that a person have a good brooder if they wish to raise a large per cent of the chickens hatched. One mistake that most people make is in waiting too late to have the brooder ready or the coops ready to remove the hens from the nest, or the little chickens from the incubator. Many little chickens become chilled in just a few hours by not having these things prepared and ready in time. A bunch of chickens that have become chilled or overheated are hard to get started and raise afterwards, and it is best for a person to always be prepared ahead of time in this respect.

There will be a great demand for broilers this year, and it is usually policy for a person to sell just as soon as large enough a majority of the little chickens they hatch, while they are bringing a good price. Get rid of all the cockerels and all that are not promising as soon as possible and convert them into money. Usually a person will be far better off and realize more out of their chickens if sold at broiler age, and the sooner this is done the quicker the feed bill will stop and the bigger per cent of profit will one realize from their efforts.

Our people are fast learning many of these little details connected with the poultry business, and it is one reason why the industry in the sout has doubled during the past three years. With the present price of both poultry and eggs we can not afford to leave any stone unturned or not to post ourselves on every little detail connected with securing any information that we will be benefited by, and it is the little details and the little things that mean profit or loss connected with the poultry industry.

With our climatic conditions we have had offered here there should be raised in Georgia this year ten chickens to where there has been one heretofore. Hundreds of city people and country people alike can and will have chickens and succeed with them now by posting themselves that a few years ago could not possibly succeed because they could not secure the desired information. With the opportunities for this business to be handled as a side line and in connection with other industries it is so easily done where one is prepared to do it, that the revenue derived this season from this industry alone should help hundreds of people where heretofore made nothing form this line of work.

Yours very truly,

Grimpe Berry

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

PEACHTREE ST. HOME AT LESS THAN ITS VALUE

NEAR FOURTEENTH STREET, we offer one of Atlanta's handsomest homes, on lot 123x330 feet. (The lot runs through the block to Crescent avenue. This is an absolute bargain. If you will phone our office we will be glad to give particulars.

FORREST & GEORGE ADAIR

FUNDS ON HAND FOR IMMEDIATE DISPOSAL AT 7 AND 8 PER CENT

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

When five thousand dollar per foot retail frontage entirely surrounds a twelve hundred dollar per foot lot, and is already within 90 feet, it won't be long before the $1,200 lot will catch up in value with its higher priced neighbor.

SOUTH BROAD for years has been impossible as a retail shopping street, but the produce men have taken their onions and cabbage to other fields; the only hindrance to Broad street's prosperity is cleaned away; the difference is already apparent. J. M. High company have an entrance and display on Broad; Kress has an expanse of show windows and entrances on Broad. The new Linen Store at the corner of Alabama, and all between, other Whitehall merchants have only to open a Broad street entrance to make Broad street a retail shopping street. The department stores are ALREADY ON BROAD STREET. Just watch them all open entrances now to catch both street's trade.

Certainly two blocks on Whitehall cannot serve all the future growth of Atlanta. What more natural place for expansion of the shopping district can one imagine than Broad street.

We believe the 24x70-foot lot on South Broad street near Mitchell, at only $30,000, on easy terms, is the best purchase we have run across in months.

Just suppose you could pick up a lot like this on Whitehall, same location at this price. The same factors that made Whitehall's values are absolutely certain to exist on Broad street and that before very long.

An investment like this is the "salt of the earth." Buy and pack away for your children like most of the Whitehall owners have.

$30,000 on terms.

Lot on Peachtree Street Just South of Currier Is Sold for $30,000, or at Rate of $1,500 a Front Foot—Omission of Credit for Sale—Marietta Street Parcel Near Bartow Street Brings $24,000—Sale of Apartments

Another sale on Peachtree street, and a sale on Marietta street close in, were featured in real estate announcements Friday.

W. L. & John O. DuPree sold for Mrs. Nannie S. Boyd to a client lot 2 of the Crass subdivision on Peachtree street, just south of Currier. The price was $30,000, or $1,500 a front foot.

This lot is 22 feet south of Currier street on the east side of Peachtree and Currier streets.

It has a frontage of 20 feet, a depth on the north line of 93.5, a rear frontage of 33 feet on an alley, and a depth of 98.4 feet on the south line.

This lot is diagonally across the street from the building occupied by the Ford Motor company, which the DuPree agency recently sold, and is part of a subdivision of Peachtree frontage which has been resold extensively since its first sale at auction three or four years ago.

RENEWED BULL SUPPORT CAUSED RISE IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 1 to 18 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—There was a renewal of yesterday's buying movement at the opening of the cotton market today. First prices were five to ten points higher and active months soon sold six to eleven points higher with March and May leading the advance. There was heavy realizing and reactions of four or five points followed, but cables were better than due, there was a continued good demand and the market showed a generally firm undertone during the early trading.

Trading was less active after the Liverpool close. Prices sagged slightly under realizing and large into-sight figures, but old crop months held some four to thirteen points net higher.

Large spinners' takings gave the week end figures rather a bullish appearance in spite of the full into sight and the market ruled generally steady during the early afternoon with prices about 3 to 15 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, March 13.—First prices for cotton were one to four points up on a steady tone in response to higher quotations from Liverpool than due and continued unseasonably cold weather in south Texas. After the call both sides bought and the advance was widened to four to six points.

Small mill forwardings met the market when it was 5 to 7 points up and put it one to three points under yesterday's close. At noon bulls were offering support and prices were at a net rise of three to four points.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS FIRM AND HIGHER

Union Pacific, Reading, Steel, Chesapeake and Ohio and Sugar Led Advance

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—Trading was abnormally dull at the opening today and prices of the leaders barely varied from yesterday's close. The widest movement was in Louisville, which lost 1¼. Canadian Pacific declined ⅜ to 203¾, the lowest price since 1911. Rock Island went to four, a low record.

Distribution of large buying orders galvanized the market into activity for a time and prices advanced swiftly. Canadain Pacific converted its loss of a point into a similar gain. Cheasapeake and Ohio, Union Pacific, New York Central, Lehigh, Sugar, Bethlehem Steel and Westinghouse advanced 1 to 2 points. Rumely shares were weak.

Despite sharp declines in various issues in the early trading it was apparent that no large volume of stocks was pressing for sale, and the steadiness of the speculative leaders encouraged bullish traders to begin active operations. The shorts reetreated and under the influence of buying for both accounts prices were marked up.

All of the important shares gained a point or more before the buying slackened. The market met with distributed sales, at the top, but quotations held firmly. Shares which recently have been large before bear attacks, such as Chesapeake and Ohio, New Haven and New York Central, took the lead in the upturn.

Bonds were irregular.

Prevalence of bullish sentiment sustained prices when buying the short interest stopped. Scope of the rise, which embraced a wide assortment of stocks, indicated some increase in outside orders and renewed pool operations.

The demonstration of rising strength which the list displayed ultimately brought support for the Gould and Rock Island stocks and bonds, and they rebounded strongly.

Bull speculators were content to maintain the list around the early high prices and not force further reduction of the short interest. Speculation flattened out toward the end.

Closed firm.

NEED MORE MONEY TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS

Anti-Tuberculosis Society Has Tremendous Amount of Work and Inadequate Funds

That the Atlanta Anti-Tuberculosis and Visiting Nurses' association has a tremendous amount of work to do, and very inadequate funds with which to do it, was the keynote of the annual meeting of the association held Thursday afternoon at Carnegie library.

In his annual report President Hugh M. Willet summarized the work accomplished by the association during the past twelve months and outlined the needs of the association for the future.

"We are in need of the personal cooperation of citizens who want to do useful service in the community," said the report. "We are in need of funds with which to do more efficient service. We are in need, most of all, of an intelligent interest on the part of all our citizens in local conditions relating to tuberculosis among both whites and negroes. This disease can never be stamped out until, as citizens and employers of servants, we realize its actual menace to our homes and our lives."

In regard to finance, the report stated that citizens have pledged annual subscriptions amounting to $3,500 until the city takes over the support of the work; that the Metropolitan Life Insurance company has agreed to pay 50 cents for every visit to a policyholder of the company; that 260 individuals have subscribed $1 per year, and that the association should undertake to increase the latter subscriptions to several thousand.

In regard to co-operation, the report stated that the association has the active and helpful co-operation of numerous benevolent and philanthropic organizations in the city.

In regard to plans for the future, the report stated that the association plans a careful study of the causes and conditions which produce tuberculosis, especially among the negroes; and plans an educational campaign among the negroes to impress them with the necessity of helping themselves.

Reports of an interesting and encouraging nature were submitted by the various committees of the association.

Officers were elected for the ensuing years as follows:

President, Hugh M. Willett; first vice president, Kendall Weisiger; second vice president, Mrs. H. W. Salmon; third vice president, Mrs. Nellie Peters Black; secretary, Miss Rosa Lowe; treasurer, Henry Davis.

Directors were elected as follows:

Hugh M. Willett, chairman; W. E. Quillian, J. E. Sommerfield, M. M. Memminger, Father Rapier, M. R. Duffy, H. Hale, Wade Harding, R. R. Daley, Miss Rhoda Kauffman, S. W. Foster, Ivan E. Allen, Arthur Heyman, Bernard Suttler, Howard S. Cole.

TRY THIS IF YOU HAVE DANDRUFF

Or Are Bothered With Falling Hair or Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff; for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Real Spring Weather In All of Its Glory On Way to Atlanta

Real spring weather is on tis way to Atlanta and is due to arrive in all its glory about March 29, says the weather man. As advance heralds, several fine fair days have been ordered on the march, and two of them are expected in Atlanta Saturday and Sunday.

"According to present prospects," says the forecaster, "Saturday will be a fine, warm, clear day, one of those beautiful days that are just as rare in March as they are in June, though the poet forogt to say so."

The weather man, who has evidently come under the influence of spring because he has taken to quoting poetry, says the temperature will go up to about 60 degrees during the middle of the day Saturday, and that it will scarcely drop lower than 40 even in the early morning.

BANDITS KILL ENGINEER; FOUR OTHERS WOUNDED

Two Men Captured and Two Escape When Caught Robbing Freight Train

(By Associated Press.)

PEORIA, Ill., March 13.—Arthur Fisher, a Chicago and Northwestern railroad freight engineer, was shot and killed in the cab of his engine early today near Manlius, Ill., forty-five miles north of Peoria, by bandits who were surprised while stealing merchandise from the freight train. A deputy sheriff, in pursuit of the band, was shot through the head and may die. The station agent at Langley, Ill., was shot in the arm, and the fireman on the freight train was shot through the leg. Two robbers were captured.

Shortly prior to the shooting the conductor and the brakeman of the freight train surprised the robbers while they were throwing merchandise from one of the cars.

The train was stopped near Manlius, and the men jumped. They ordered the conductor and brakemen back into the caboose and demanded that Engineer Fisher detach the engine and proceed down the track. He wavered in meeting the request and was shot through the head. He died instantly.

The station agent at Manlius telegraphed Princeton and Langley, a small station near Manlius, for help. In an hour nearly 200 men were scouring the woods for the holdup men. Near Sheffield, Ill., the posse came up with the robbers, who opened fire, and Bert Skoglund, deputy sheriff of Bureau county, was shot through the face, shoulder and throat. He is believed to be fatally wounded. Leslie Beyer, son of the sheriff of Bureau county, was shot in the leg. The wound is not serious.

Two robbers were wounded by members of the posse. Two still are at liberty.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

(In Tablet or Liquid Form)

This wonderful remedy has a record. Thousands have recommended it to others because it has relieved them of the pangs of indigestion, of dyspepsia and weak stomach attended by sour risings, heartburn, bad breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing of the stomach, biliousness, and similar derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

MRS. ANNA MAY COX.

Mrs. Anna May Cox, of Benton City, Mo., Route 2, says: "It is with pleasure I write to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from the use of your medicines, namely, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Favorite Prescription and Pleasant Pellets. I was a great sufferer from stomach and nerve trouble for nearly eighteen months. Was confined to bed for six months with inflammation of stomach, caused from indigestion. I had six doctors in all treating me but grew worse all the time—none of them could do me any good. Finally I wrote to you for advice which I thankfully received, and have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription,' and several vials of 'Pellets.' I feel stronger than I have felt for several months—can do my work which I never expected to do again. My neighbors think it a miracle. I can cheerfully recommend your medicines to any sufferer from indigestion and nerves."

You can obtain Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in tablet or liquid form from all dealers in medicines—or send 50 one-cent stamps for a trial box of the tablets to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Common Sense Medical Adviser will give you just the sort of information you need to keep yourself in good health and the right physical strength. You can obtain a copy of this 1008 page, cloth-bound, illustrated book free if you will send 31 one-cent stamps to pay for the cost of wrapping and mailing. Address:

Sure Indications of Lung Trouble

Among the indications of threatened Lung Trouble are a continued cough, fever and night sweats. A change of climate often helps, but it seems that something more is needed to stop the cough and sweats and arrest the progress of disease. Eckman's Alterative, after many years of use, is known to be most beneficial in bringing about relief, in many cases complete recoveries. Investigate this case:—

Schell City, Mo.

"Gentlemen: I had a terible cough, night sweats and pleurisy in my lungs. A man who heard me coughing advised me to take your Alterative. I paid no attention to him then. I got so bad the doctor said I should go to Wyoming. I did, and when I got there I steadily grew worse. Then I remembered what had been told me about your medicine. I began taking it with no faith whatever, but before I had taken three bottles, I could eat anything. Fever and night-sweats stopped and for over a year I have been well and in better health than I ever was."

(Affidavit) W. F. BOMAR.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by all Jacobs' Drug Stores and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

Easy To Get Rid of Corns

When you know HOW. But you can't do it by peeling, paring, gouging or picking at them. These barbarous methods are cruelly painful and seriously dangerous, for frequently the corn bleeds, and then there is always the possibility of blood poisoning. Furthermore, these methods do not remove the corn completely, for the root usually goes deep into the toe to the bone.

TANGO, for corns, is a scientific formula, which we have thoroughly tested and guarantee to be successful with any corn, whether hard or soft, and no matter how stubborn or how deep the growth. It removes the corn completely and positively without pain or danger. The first application instantly stops the corn from hurting you. Use it tonight and end your agony. 25c at Jacobs' Pharmacy and all druggists.—(Advt.)
